Texas Border Evacuated In Face Of Flood

Rio Grande Booms To Record Crest; Mex City Abandoned

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Police in this border city hurriedly evacuated residents of low areas today in the face of the Rio Grande river's greatest flood.

Police said an expected 40-foot crest would send flood waters boiling into the business section of this city of nearly 52,000.

Across the steadily rising rampaging boundary river the twin Mexican city of Nuevo Laredo abandoned attempts to sandbag the levee. Workmen started moving everything possible, including the population, to higher ground.

Police expected the waters to envelope the already closed International Bridge at any moment.

Thousands of people on both sides of the U. S.-Mexico boundary fled to the hills. Nearly 100 miles north of the Rio Grande, in the rich oil-and-cattle country of far west Texas, 14 persons were believed dead after flash floods swept through Ozona.

FLOOD STAGES 5 to 15 feet higher than ever before were expected in the border cities today. But an International Boundary and Water Commission (IBWC) spokesman, after a plane flight over the areas, said:

"How much the river will rise after this crest passes is anybody's guess."

The IBWC had lost contact with its gauging points north of Langtry, 50 miles upstream from Del Rio.

Back of the picturesque border river's churning, debris-laden crest were shattered bridges, flooded towns and washed-out railroads and highways. Thousands were forced from their homes.

River-wise city folks quickly evacuated their homes. Farmers had been warned and joined the thousands in the Mexican hills.

Each of the Mexican side of the river is lower than the U. S. side.

The rains, some up to 22 inches were spewed by last week's Hurricane Alice, which lashed the Texas-Mexican Gulf Coast for 12 hours last Friday.

Ahead of the rushing floodwaters lay the great International Falcon Dam, dedicated less than a year ago by the presidents of the United States and Mexico. It was expected to keep the damaging floodwaters from the lush vegetable and citrus-growing lower Rio Grande Valley and its big population.

Beyond Falcon Dam, the river has been virtually dry. Now the flood will be used in future months to slacken the mammoth thirst of the orange and grapefruit groves, the vegetable farms and cotton-growing areas.

Medics Concerned About Truman

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman's condition was listed today as improved although doctors still indicated concern.

The former President's recovery from an emergency appendix and gall bladder operation June 20 has been hampered by his hypersensitivity to antibiotic drugs needed in the treatment. His condition still is considered serious.

A hospital spokesman said last night that there was general agreement among Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's physician, and other doctors assisting in the case "that his condition is quite unusual and requires special bacteriological studies and treatment."

The mother, pushing the carriage in somewhat of a hurry, fled and was listed as a hit-run offender.

The victim had a scuffed knee.

Author Awarded $175,000 From Pegler In Libel Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Author Quentin Reynolds today won a $175,000 cash award and a token moral victory in a federal libel action against columnist Westbrook Pegler.

An award of $175,000 levied against Pegler, the Hearst Corp. and Hearst Consolidated Publications Inc., was believed to be one of the largest libel awards ever made in a U. S. court.

But the jury awarded Reynolds only one dollar to compensate him for loss of earnings, damage to his reputation and mental anguish suffered over the last four years from a defamatory Pegler column on which the $500,000 suit was based.

"I'm happy about the award, but I can't figure out how they arrived at that dollar," Reynolds said after the weary jury announced its

Ohio Grants To Vet Groups Held Illegal

COLUMBUS (AP)—Money grants to veterans organizations from the Ohio Legislature yesterday were ruled unconstitutional by Judge James E. Kinison.

The common pleas court action stopped a 76-year-old practice of the General Assembly in giving grants to veterans groups. It also upset three earlier court rulings upholding the legality of the grants. Judge Kinison, on assignment here from Jackson County, ordered the state not to pay the second half of grants totaling $265,858 to eight veterans organizations.

He ruled these grants "constitute use of public funds for private purposes." He added:

"The fact that these organizations used the money for purposes paralleling the uses which might have been made of it by the state is immaterial. Complete discretion in the use rested with the organization, uncontrolled by the state."

Organizations who received the grants included the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Amvets, 83rd Division AEF Veterans Assn., Ohio Rainbow Division, United Spanish War Veterans, 37th Division AEF Veterans Assn., and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The biennial grants included $72,375 each to the Legion, the DAV and the VFW, $23,160 to the United Spanish War Veterans and $14,475 to Amvets.

Ike, Winnie Call For Sharp Arms Slash

Leaders Seek To Use A-Energy For Peace; Offer Reds Friendship

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill called today for "general and drastic reduction" of world armaments "under effective safeguards."

In a six-point statement of principles they also asserted their determination to try to bring about conditions in the world in which the "prodigious" forces of atomic energy "can be used to enrich and not to destroy mankind."

At the same time they held out to all nations, including Communist nations, "the hand of friendship," on the condition that by "solemn pledge and confirming deeds these nations show themselves desirous of participating in a just and fair peace."

The statement was released by the White House an hour after Eisenhower and Churchill concluded their last meeting in the President's office and said goodbye on the south lawn of the White House. The two men shook hands warmly.

CHURCHILL planned to leave by plane in the afternoon for Ottawa, Canada.

In five days of talks here, the Prime Minister and the President overcame some British-American differences but left many issues unsettled.

Churchill leaves behind a ringing appeal for a "real good try" at living peacefully with Russia.

Two accomplishments of the talks were set out yesterday in a joint statement by the American and British leaders.

They agreed to "press forward" plans for a collective defense against communism in Southeast Asia whether the Indochina war is settled or whether it goes on.

And they agreed that the projected European Defense Community provides the best means for rearming West Germany, while telling France other means of doing this will be considered if French approval of EDC is not given.

Here's Twist: Adlai Booms GOP's Slogan

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Democrats should adopt the 1952 Republican campaign slogan—"that there is a mess in Washington," and "it's time for a change," says Adlai E. Stevenson.

The Republican national administration, Stevenson said last night, is "so hopelessly torn and divided within itself that it cannot govern."

"Never have so many been promised so much and waited so long for so little," the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee said.

He told 600 persons at a $20-a-plate party dinner that the Republicans pledged everything from balancing the budget to the "greatest leadership since Washington."

The state of the nation's affairs has become, he said, "far too perilous for us Democrats to derive partisan satisfaction from it."

"Failure of the present administration," he said, "can only mean failure for us all; if it fails, we and our friends, and those coming after us, too, will pay a fearful price."

Last Eclipse Of Sun During This Century Due Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—A dragon will swallow the sun tomorrow.

This at least was one ancient superstitious explanation of what millions of Americans should be able to see soon after dawn—a total eclipse of the sun or good portion of it.

The great celestial show, practically the last one this century for many Americans, will be reserved for early risers.

The full blackout, or total eclipse, will be viewed only by persons in a belt 68 to 96 miles wide from Holt County, Neb., and extending through South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, in the United States. Minneapolis and St. Paul are the only major cities in the path.

But other millions should catch a good notion of it if the weather is kind—a 74 per cent bite out of the sun in New York, about 85 per cent in Chicago, 82 in St. Louis, 91 in Denver, 71 in Atlanta, 75 in Washington and 6 per cent in Tallahassee, Fla. Far Westerners will miss out entirely.

The total eclipse begins at 6:07 a. m. (EST) near O'Neill, Neb., and then the shadow of the moon will race across the earth at a speed of 3,000 miles per hour.

It will dart through Canada, Labrador, the tip of Greenland, Norway, Sweden, Russia and Pakistan, with a black sun setting in India 24 hours later.

In Minneapolis, the sun will rise with the moon already taking a piece out of the sun, and the total eclipse will occur there about 30 seconds after it begins in Nebraska. Totality at the Twin Cities will last about 75 seconds.

Mid-eclipse for New Yorkers will occur at 6 a. m. with the partial disappearance of the sun actually beginning nearly an hour earlier, and the last remnant of the eclipse finished about 7 a. m.

A stern warning comes from medical experts and astronomers not to look at the eclipse through ordinary sun glasses, at the risk of serious eye damage.

You must use heavily smoked glass, welder's glasses, or strongly exposed photographic film. Be careful especially of children's eyes.

TV will cover the show. NBC and CBS are sharing facilities to telecast from Minneapolis, Chicago and New York on the NBC show "Today" and CBS' "Morning Show." Repeat showings on film are scheduled later in the day.

Reber, CHS Valedictorian, Is Accepted By West Point

Robert E. (Bob) Reber, 18-year old valedictorian of Circleville High School's graduating class this year, has been accepted for entrance to West Point Academy and will leave here next weekend for the famed Army school.

The youth, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reber of 351 E. Franklin St., will make the trip east by plane. He took "The Point's" entrance examinations about two weeks ago and has just been notified he qualified for a principal, non-competitive appointment.

The announcement was hailed here as reflecting high credit upon both the individual appointee and his teachers at Circleville High School. In taking the difficult entrance examination, young Reber was participating in a field normally held only by students who have a college, or at least a preparatory course education.

The appointee's mother recalled that much of the credit goes to Al Gabriel, CHS history teacher who first suggested that Reber seek the appointment. Mrs. Reber emphasized, however, that her son's other teachers joined in urging the move and encouraged him in preparations for "The Point's" severe entrance tests. Many wrote letters of recommendation.

"WE FEEL it's a splendid and well deserved tribute for Circleville High School," Mrs. Reber said, "and especially for the teachers who helped Bob achieve what he went out to get at Mr. Gabriel's suggestion. Our high school certainly looks good when you know that one of its graduates can pass an entrance test which most people feel requires a college education."

"We are very grateful, also, for all the others who helped make it possible. We're extremely happy for Bob too, because we knew he wanted it very much."

Mrs. Reber, in expressing thanks for assistance given her son, called special attention to the help of Ed Wallace, Pickaway County state representative, and Congressman James G. Polk of the Sixth Ohio District.

Reber's application was forwarded by Wallace to Polk, who made the appointment and followed Reber's progress through the various routine stages. Each congressman is permitted to file nominations for four cadetships at the famous training school on the Hudson River in New York.

For each vacancy at the school, four candidates may be nominated, one as principal one as first alternate, one as second alternate, and one as third alternate. The alternates are in line for qualification in the event the principal fails to pass the entrance examination.

Reber, Polk's principal candidate passed his tests by substantial margins in the different classifications. He was already qualified without the need of examination in history, having received "The Point's" requirements in the course of his high school training.

AFTER FOUR years at West Point, graduates of the school serve three years in the Army. The youth's older brother, John, 24, is an Army veteran and is now in training for a Du Pont Co. position here.

Robert Reber, born in Circleville, attended Franklin and Corwin grade schools for his elementary education.

Recognition for high scholastic standing is found numerous times in his school record. In the annual district tests for outstanding scholars, he received 12 certificate awards.

He is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville. Last year, he was chosen to attend the Boys' State gathering but was unable to participate.

Carl Short Killed In Harness Race

A 29-year old member of a prominent harness racing family was killed Monday night when he was thrown from his sulky at Hilliards Raceway. His wife and parents witnessed the accident.

The victim, Carl Short of New Holland, was pronounced dead at University Hospital in Columbus. His injuries included a fractured skull.

Short was thrown during a collision of three pacers in the sixth race. His horse, Navy Command, crashed into Fleet Mite, a horse which reportedly stumbled and fell at the first quarter pole. Some spectators say they believed Fleet Mite lost stride before falling.

The dead man was a nephew of Forrest Short, of Circleville and Harry Short, of Columbus. Both men are well known in harness racing. Short also had another uncle, Rufus Short, of Columbus.

TWO OTHER drivers were injured in the fall. Bob Seabrook, 41, of Urbana driver of Fleet Mite, suffered a broken leg and broken hip. Bill Overdorf, the third driver, had minor injuries, according to reports. None of the horses was injured, officials at the track said.

Short, who was born in Pickaway County, was in his first year of driving for Castleton Farm, Inc., of Lexington, Ky. He was considered Castleton's number-two driver behind the suspended Wayne Curly Smart.

Survivors include: Short's wife, Thelma; his parents, Otis and Edith Ebenhack Short, of New Holland; a brother, Carey and a sister, Dorothy Short.

According to the family no funeral arrangements have yet been made. The body is being held in Columbus.

Benson, Nixon Beat Drums For Flexible Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Facing a rugged fight in the House, the Eisenhower administration has appealed to the country at large for support of its farm program pegged to flexible instead of high, rigid price props.

Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Benson appeared together last night on a nationwide radio broadcast in which Benson stated:

"The present farm program is unfair to both farmers and taxpayers, and that's why the administration has asked Congress to correct the faults of the law."

Benson said it is not true, as some have charged, that the administration is proposing changes in the nation's basic farm law that would reduce farm income.

Nixon said continuation of the present program, and its high-level supports would be "the height of irresponsibility."

THE TWO administration leaders went on the air at the request of President Eisenhower as the House moved toward consideration later this week of a bill providing, not for flexible supports, but for a one-year extension of the present war-born system of props at 90 per cent of parity for corn, cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

Across the Capitol, the Senate Agriculture Committee also has urged another year of rigid, high props, but the House will act on the farm legislation first.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices said by law to be fair to farmers in relation to the costs of the things they buy.

Proponents of extension of inflexible farm price floors will have their inning with the public tomorrow in a 9:45 p. m. broadcast.

Their case will be put forth by Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) of the House Agriculture Committee and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), its ranking Democrat.

Army Colonel Quits; Monzon Taking Over

New Chieftain Said Ready To Negotiate With Rebel Leader

SAN SALVADOR (AP)—The Guatemalan government radio today reported the resignation of the regime headed by Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz who had taken over from President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman Sunday night.

The announcement came after Col. Castillo Armas, leader of the anti-Communist rebels in the Guatemalan war, demanded "unconditional surrender" of the junta headed by Enrique Diaz.

The Guatemalan broadcast said Jose A. Sanchez, another member of the three-man junta which succeeded Arbenz, had also quit.

It said Alfredo H. Monzon, who was the third member of the junta headed by Enrique Diaz, now heads the new ruling group. The other two were listed as Jose Luis Salazar and Maurice Dubois.

The Guatemalan radio reported yesterday afternoon that insurgent planes had bombed the capital. Then the station went off the air.

A communique from the rebel headquarters made no mention of the bombing, but earlier rebel broadcasts had warned that air strikes would be renewed unless Diaz gave up.

DIAZ, FORMER army chief of staff, took over Sunday night after the army-forced resignation of left-wing Arbenz. The new military regime promptly outlawed the Communist party, but this failed to placate the anti-Red rebels driving toward the capital from the Honduras border.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge, in a dispatch from Guatemala City delayed 18 hours by censorship, reported that the junta had started a roundup yesterday of Communists. He said two Red members of Parliament had taken refuge in the Mexican Embassy.

He said among the first acts of the new military regime had been a shift in the top police command, with Jose Luis Morales Melgar named to succeed (Continued on Page Two)

Chiang, U.S. Said Agreed On New Pact

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—An influential Taipei newspaper said today President Chiang Kai-shek and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, special representative of President Eisenhower, have agreed tentatively on a mutual defense pact linking Nationalist China and the U. S.

There was no confirmation from any source.

The usually well-informed United Daily News said:

1. Chiang and Van Fleet have agreed on a pact which would leave the Nationalists free to attack Red China and would not commit the United States to support such an attack.

2. The United States would agree to protect major offshore island bases such as Quemoy and the Tachens.

Quemoy, near Red-held Amoy, lies across the Formosa Straits. The Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist island chain, lie 200 miles north of Formosa.

Since the outbreak of war in Korea the U. S. 7th Fleet has patrolled waters around Formosa to guard against Red invasion. However, it has not guarded the offshore island bases, many of which lie almost within range of Red guns.

The Daily News said the tentative defense pact has been sent to Washington for final approval.

trance examination, young Reber was participating in a field normally held only by students who have a college, or at least a preparatory-course education.

The appointee's mother recalled that much of the credit goes to Al Gabriel, CHS history teacher who first suggested that Reber seek the appointment. Mrs. Reber emphasized, however, that her son's other teachers joined in urging the move and encouraged him in preparation for "The Point's" severe entrance tests. Many wrote letters of recommendation.

"WE FEEL it's a splendid and well deserved tribute for Circleville High School," Mrs. Reber said, "and especially for the teachers who helped Bob achieve what he went out to get at Mr. Gabriel's suggestion. Our high school certainly looks good when you know that one of its graduates can pass an entrance test which most people feel requires a college education."

"We are very grateful, also, for all the others who helped make it possible. We're extremely happy for Bob too, because we knew he wanted it very much."

Mrs. Reber, in expressing thanks for assistance given her son, called special attention to the help of Ed Wallace, Pickaway County state representative, and Congressman James G. Polk of the Sixth Ohio District.

Reber's application was forwarded by Wallace to Polk, who made the appointment and followed Reber's progress through the various routine stages. Each congressman is permitted to file nominations for four cadetships at the famous training school on the Hudson River in New York.

For each vacancy at the school, four candidates may be nominated, one as principal one as first alternate, one as second alternate, and one as third alternate. The alternates are in line for qualification in the event the principal fails to pass the entrance examination.

Reber, Polk's principal candidate passed his tests by substantial margins in the different classifications. He was already qualified without the need of examination in history, having received "The Point's" requirements in the course of his high school training.

AFTER FOUR years at West Point, graduates of the school serve three years in the Army. The youth's older brother, John, 24, is an Army veteran and is now in training for a Du Pont Co. position here.

Robert Reber, born in Circleville, attended Franklin and Corwin grade schools for his elementary education.

Recognition for high scholastic standing is found numerous times in his school record. In the annual district tests for outstanding scholars, he received 12 certificate awards.

He is an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville. Last year, he was chosen to attend the Boys' State gathering but was unable to participate.

Carl Short Killed In Harness Race

A 29-year old member of a prominent harness racing family was killed Monday night when he was thrown from his sulky at Hilliards Raceway. His wife and parents witnessed the accident.

The victim, Carl Short of New Holland, was pronounced dead at University Hospital in Columbus. His injuries included a fractured skull.

Short was thrown during a collision of three pacers in the sixth race. His horse, Navy Command, crashed into Fleet Mite, a horse which reportedly stumbled and fell at the first quarter pole. Some spectators say they believed Fleet Mite lost stride before falling.

The dead man was a nephew of Forrest Short, of Circleville and Harry Short, of Columbus. Both men are well known in harness racing. Short also had another uncle, Rufus Short, of Columbus.

TWO OTHER drivers were injured in the fall. Bob Seabrook, 41, of Urbana driver of Fleet Mite, suffered a broken leg and broken hip. Bill Overdorf, the third driver, had minor injuries, according to reports. None of the horses was injured, officials at the track said.

Short, who was born in Pickaway County, was in his first year of driving for Castleton Farm, Inc., of Lexington, Ky. He was considered Castleton's number-two driver behind the suspended Wayne Curly Smart.

Survivors include: Short's wife, Thelma; his parents, Otis and Edith Ebenhack Short, of New Holland; a brother, Carey and a sister, Dorothy Short.

According to the family no funeral arrangements have yet been made. The body is being held in Columbus.

Benson, Nixon Beat Drums For Flexible Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Facing a rugged fight in the House, the Eisenhower administration has appealed to the country at large for support of its farm program pegged to flexible instead of high, rigid price props.

Vice President Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Benson appeared together last night on a nationwide radio broadcast in which Benson stated: "The present farm program is unfair to both farmers and taxpayers, and that's why the administration has asked Congress to correct the faults of the law."

Benson said it is not true, as some have charged, that the administration is proposing changes in the nation's basic farm law that would reduce farm income.

Nixon said continuation of the present program, and its high-level supports would be "the height of irresponsibility."

THE TWO administration leaders went on the air at the request of President Eisenhower as the House moved toward consideration later this week of a bill providing, not for flexible supports, but for a one-year extension of the present war-born system of props at 90 per cent of parity for corn, cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

Across the Capitol, the Senate Agriculture Committee also has urged another year of rigid, high props, but the House will act on the farm legislation first.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices said by law to be fair to farmers in relation to the costs of the things they buy.

Proponents of extension of inflexible farm price floors will have their inning with the public tomorrow in a 9:45 p. m. broadcast. Their case will be put forth by Chairman Hope (R-Kan.), of the House Agriculture Committee and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), its ranking Democrat.

Army Colonel Quits; Monzon Taking Over

New Chieftain Said Ready To Negotiate With Rebel Leader

SAN SALVADOR (AP)—The Guatemalan government radio today reported the resignation of the regime headed by Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz who had taken over from President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman Sunday night.

The announcement came after Col. Castillo Armas, leader of the anti-Communist rebels in the Guatemalan war, demanded "unconditional surrender" of the junta headed by Enrique Diaz.

The Guatemalan broadcast said Jose A. Sanchez, another member of the three-man junta which succeeded Arbenz, had also quit.

It said Alfredo H. Monzon, who was the third member of the junta headed by Enrique Diaz, now heads the new ruling group. The other two were listed as Jose Luis Salazar and Maurice Dubois.

The Guatemalan radio reported yesterday afternoon that insurgent planes had bombed the capital. Then the station went off the air.

A communique from the rebel headquarters made no mention of the bombing, but earlier rebel broadcasts had warned that air strikes would be renewed unless Diaz gave up.

DIAZ, FORMER army chief of staff, took over Sunday night after the army-forced resignation of left-wing Arbenz. The new military regime promptly outlawed the Communist party, but this failed to placate the anti-Red rebels driving toward the capital from the Honduras border.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge, in a dispatch from Guatemala City delayed 18 hours by censorship, reported that the junta had started a roundup yesterday of Communists. He said two Red members of Parliament had taken refuge in the Mexican Embassy.

He said among the first acts of the new military regime had been a shift in the top police command, with Jose Luis Morales Melgar named to succeed (Continued on Page Two)

Chiang, U.S. Said Agreed On New Pact

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—An influential Taipei newspaper said today President Chiang Kai-shek and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, special representative of President Eisenhower, have agreed tentatively on a mutual defense pact linking Nationalist China and the U. S.

There was no confirmation from any source.

The usually well-informed United Daily News said:

1. Chiang and Van Fleet have agreed on a pact which would leave the Nationalists free to attack Red China and would not commit the United States to support such an attack.

2. The United States would agree to protect major offshore island bases such as Quemoy and the Tachens.

Quemoy, near Red-held Amoy, lies across the Formosa Straits. The Tachens, northern anchor of the Nationalist island chain, lie 200 miles north of Formosa.

Since the outbreak of war in Korea the U. S. 7th Fleet has patrolled waters around Formosa to guard against Red invasion. However, it has not guarded the offshore island bases, many of which lie almost within range of Red guns.

The Daily News said the tentative defense pact has been sent to Washington for final approval.

Judge Warns Man Against 'Serpent'

DURHAM, England (AP)—Judge Clifford Cohen granted Thomas R. Ainsley his second divorce from the same woman on grounds of desertion yesterday, but warned:

"Don't come back a third time. A wise man does not get bitten three times by the same serpent."

Seeing Eclipse? Then Get Ye Up With Old Sol

Not too many Pickaway County residents are expected to see the eclipse of the sun early Wednesday morning—only the true sun-gazers who are willing to meet the early rising hour, and those whose work will have them up that early anyway.

Weather permitting, viewers in the north central states will see the phenomenon at its maximum about 6 a. m., according to scientists at Ohio State University. The eclipse—which will only be partial for those who see it in this part of the country—will begin about sunrise Wednesday. And it's figured to end shortly before 7 a. m.

All viewers are cautioned to use smoked glass or dark film negatives for eye protection.

Eclipse times for this area have been computed by scientists of Ohio State University's Mapping and Charting Research Laboratory, which is staffing four major expeditions to observe and record the event for the Air Force Cambridge (Mass.) Research Center.

Members of the expeditions are now waiting at Knob Lake, Quebec; the Okak Islands in eastern Labrador; Greenland, and Iran to view the celestial show.

Seeing Eclipse? Then Get Ye Up With Old Sol

Not too many Pickaway County residents are expected to see the eclipse of the sun early Wednesday morning—only the true sun-gazers who are willing to meet the early rising hour, and those whose work will have them up that early anyway.

Weather permitting, viewers in the north central states will see the phenomenon at its maximum about 6 a. m., according to scientists at Ohio State University. The eclipse—which will only be partial for those who see it in this part of the country—will begin about sunrise Wednesday. And it's figured to end shortly before 7 a. m.

All viewers are cautioned to use smoked glass or dark film negatives for eye protection.

Eclipse times for this area have been computed by scientists of Ohio State University's Mapping and Charting Research Laboratory, which is staffing four major expeditions to observe and record the event for the Air Force Cambridge (Mass.) Research Center.

Members of the expeditions are now waiting at Knob Lake, Quebec; the Okak Islands in eastern Labrador; Greenland, and Iran to view the celestial show.

French Navy Embarrassed

BREST, France (AP)—The new 8,000-ton French anti-aircraft cruiser De Grasse began sinking during her first floatability test.

A quick look around showed someone had forgotten to close a seacock.

Water was pumped out of the shipyard basin immediately and the cruiser went back on her dry-dock cradle.

Pipeline Gets OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Fuel Gas Co. of Columbus yesterday was authorized to build 24½ miles of 20-inch pipeline in Richland and Crawford counties. The Federal Power Commission authorized the $1,072,000 expansion.

Ike, Winnie Call For Sharp Arms Slash

Junta was overthrown in a coup by Monzon. He was described as an anti-Communist.

These advisers said Monzon was expected to negotiate a settlement of the civil war with Armas. They added the new government announced political amnesty for all anti-Communists who had been arrested by the Arbenz regime and the end of censorship.

Churchill then replied to questions at a press luncheon attended by more than 800 newsmen and British and American officials and diplomats. Some who heard him gained the impression that one of his motives in coming to the United States now was to deliver a plea for an all-out attempt at getting along with the Russians, as an alternative to what he termed the "doom-laden" condition of the world today.

It is no secret that many Britons fear U. S. policy toward the Soviet Union and Red China has become too rigid.

CHURCHILL'S appeal was built on the idea of establishing more contacts with the Russian people and on the faith that their interest in better living conditions would operate as a restraint on the policies of the Soviet government.

"I would like to make quite sure," he declared, "that the Russian people would not feel that they might gain far more by a quarter of a century of peaceful development in their own country than they would by pressing matters to a point where we should all be led to a situation which baffled human imagination in its terror but which, I am quite sure, would leave us victorious—but victorious on a heap of ruins."

Steel Union Said Getting Wage Boost

NEW YORK (AP)—Iron Age, authoritative weekly in the steel trade, said today the wage package negotiated with the CIO Steel Workers Union and to be announced today, will cost the steel industry between 10 cents and 12 cents an hour per worker and result in price increases averaging $3 to $4 a ton.

"Some prices will go up more than this average and some will go up less," the trade paper said.

"Better business conditions and the militant stand by the union followed by a night-long bargaining session brought about a wage-pension-health package which includes approximately five cents an hour increase, the balance of the cost being in fringe benefits."

In Pittsburgh, top policy makers of the CIO United Steelworkers gathered for meetings amid reports a new contract agreement has been reached with U. S. Steel Corp., which usually sets the bargaining pace for the entire basic steel industry.

While the negotiators didn't end a marathon negotiating session until 2 a. m. today, the union's Executive Board got ready to meet ahead of the 2 p. m. session of USW's 170-man Wage Policy Committee which will act on the board's recommendation.

Although neither Big Steel nor the union would comment on reports of a settlement, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said an agreement had been reached. The newspaper predicted quick ratification and said the other major steel companies, facing the same contract expiration deadline of midnight tomorrow, will fall into line.

Mickey Spillane Says He'll End Famous 'Mike Hammer' Series

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Spillane, the literary gore-shedder, is feeling the gentle touch of time. At 36 the Brooklyn-born author is mellowing himself, and feels the public also is so weary of the post-war cycle of violence that he is considering making Mike Hammer, his famous mythical private detective, turn in his brass knucks.

Back in 1946 in "I, The Jury," Mike startled and fascinated the world of mice-men by drilling an amorous blonde through the stomach and telling her "it was easy."

Sherlock Holmes would have dismissed Mike as a dastard and a cad, but the public went crazy over a guy who could win a verdict over a blonde, even with a gun. Spillane says the seven thrillers he has written about Mike have sold 60 million copies, been reprinted in 11 languages.

"I have another book ready to have been translated into English for the British market," dryly remarked Spillane, a stocky former war flier.

"I have another book ready to go called, 'Tonight I Die,' and I feel it will be the last one about Mike."

"You have to change. You have to go with the market. I've used hatred as a motivation up to now. But we're over the war. Hate and violence are worn thin. People want books now built around subtle moods and character."

Mickey hinted he had another reason—that he was weary of taking the personal risks of more underworld researches for Mike's exploits.

"Fifty per cent of the situations I write about are true," he said. "But you can get clobbered once too often getting your background material. From now on I think I'll write nothing but fiction."

Mickey and his friend Jack Stang, a Newburgh, N. Y., cop, returned recently from Hollywood, where they acted with Clyde Beatty in "Ring of Fear," the story of a psychopathic killer in a circus.

Over a dinner of steak and beer (contrary to reports, Spillane doesn't sip plasma through a straw), Mickey discussed the way Hollywood murders plots.

"I like Hollywood," he said, "But I don't think much of some of the Hollywood writers. Put them in front of a typewriter and they're helpless. They have to drool into a microphone."

"If you give them a good story, all they keep is the title. They don't know what to do with a good story. They have to try to make it an epic."

"When I have a story to write, I sit down and write it. I wrote 'I, The Jury' for $1,000 in 19 days while I was living in a tent. I never took more than three weeks to write a book in my life. I can write 10,000 words in a day."

Mickey, who dwells in a black-and-white world where a guy is either your pal or probably a bum, clings to his old friends, has a morbid fear success might go to his crew-cut head.

"I don't like people who get famous and something happens to their minds," he said. "That doesn't happen to the good ones."

He and his wife, Baby, live in a house they built themselves on a 28-acre estate "of grass and weeds" near Newburgh with their two young children and a dog.

Mickey, who yearns to be an acrobat, spends his days now practicing back flips in his front yard. If he doesn't break his neck he plans a brief tour this summer with a circus.

His other hobbies are collecting classical records ("I can't stand live") and stock motor car racing.

"I've got six cars—cars are good for you," he said earnestly. "They keep you out of trouble."

His favorite is a souped up 1951 stock model in which he can keep out of trouble at 150 miles an hour.

Sometimes Spillane's father, a former bartender, comes over to shake his head at his son's antics.

"He can't understand," said Mickey, "why I don't go out and get a steady job like other men."

Your Election Laws ...

By Ted W. Brown
Secretary of State of Ohio
(One of a Series)

One of the most often asked questions in the Secretary of State's office is: "Why do we have registration?"

The primary purpose of registration is to provide a method of making certain that those who vote in a precinct are actually residents of that precinct and are qualified to vote there.

There are arguments "pro" and "con" on the subject of registration of course, but in many places where registration has been put into effect there has been a reduction in election irregularities.

Modern-day living is vastly different from the so-called "horse and buggy" days and this has affected voting. There was a time when approximately 200 persons lived in a precinct and the election officials serving at the polling place on election day would know everyone who requested ballots.

TODAY, EVEN in some of our rural areas, and most certainly in the more populous areas where the population is much more transitory, the problem of proper identification of voters becomes more acute. A larger percentage of families move from place to place and the population in many areas has increased so that the average precinct of today has 450 voters. In these instances, it is a rare community where the precinct officials know every voter.

Registration isn't such a complicated matter as some may think. In order to register, a person goes to the office of the Board of Elections and fills in registration forms which bear his signature. That person's registration card is sent out to the precinct in which he is entitled to vote on election day, making it easy to identify the voter by comparing the signature on the registration card with his signature on the poll book.

Cadet Darrel E. Norris son of Howard B. Norris, of Ashville Route 1, arrived at Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Texas, on June 20, to participate in the annual Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Course summer encampment being conducted at the helicopter and liaison pilot training base.

Norris, a member of the AFROTC detachment at Ohio State University, and 137 other cadets will receive training in weapons and marksmanship, leadership, organization and functions of an Air Force base, aircrew and aircraft indoctrination as well as orientation and physical training.

Approximately 13,000 AFROTC cadets throughout the Air Force are attending summer encamp-

Oil Drill Hits Geyser Of Water

FILLMORE, Calif. (AP)—An oil-drilling crew struck water in Sespe Canyon yesterday and a normally dry creek bed was filled with an estimated 1,000 barrels of water an hour.

Workmen dumped 250 sacks of cement to dam the geyser but they were tossed away by the force of the water.

O. L. Raleigh, manager of the oil company, said the drill apparently tapped a subterranean river or lake.

Mickey Spillane Says He'll End Famous 'Mike Hammer' Series

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Spillane, the literary gore-shedder, is feeling the gentle touch of time.

At 36 the Brooklyn-born author is mellowing himself, and feels the public also is so weary of the post-war cycle of violence that he is considering making Mike Hammer, his famous mythical private detective, turn in his brass knucks.

Back in 1946 in "I, The Jury," Mike startled and fascinated the world of mice-men by drilling an amorous blonde through the stomach and telling her "it was easy."

Sherlock Holmes would have dismissed Mike as a dastard and a cad, but the public went crazy over a guy who could win a verdict over a blonde, even with a gun. Spillane says the seven thrillers he has written about Mike have sold 60 million copies, been reprinted in 11 languages.

"I have another book ready to have been translated into English for the British market," dryly remarked Spillane, a stocky former war flier.

"I have another book ready to go called, 'Tonight I Die,' and I feel it will be the last one about Mike."

"You have to change. You have to go with the market. I've used hatred as a motivation up to now. But we're over the war. Hate and violence are worn thin. People want books now built around subtle moods and character."

Mickey hinted he had another reason—that he was weary of taking the personal risks of more underworld researches for Mike's exploits.

"Fifty per cent of the situations I write about are true," he said. "But you can get clobbered once too often getting your background material. From now on I think I'll write nothing but fiction."

Mickey and his friend Jack Stang, a Newburgh, N. Y., cop, returned recently from Hollywood, where they acted with Clyde Beatty in "Ring of Fear," the story of a psychopathic killer in a circus.

Over a dinner of steak and beer (contrary to reports, Spillane doesn't sip plasma through a straw), Mickey discussed the way Hollywood murders plots.

"I like Hollywood," he said, "But I don't think much of some of the Hollywood writers. Put them in front of a typewriter and they're helpless. They have to drool into a microphone."

"If you give them a good story, all they keep is the title. They don't know what to do with a good story. They have to try to make it an epic."

"When I have a story to write, I sit down and write it. I wrote 'I, The Jury' for $1,000 in 19 days while I was living in a tent. I never took more than three weeks to write a book in my life. I can write 10,000 words in a day."

WHAT'S THE GIMMICK?
TELEPHONE company in a Maryland city erected an outside booth as a convenience for motorists. When the service was inaugurated a motorist was stopped and offered a free call. He refused it.
"What's the gimmick?" he asked, suspicious that it was a come-on racket. Here is additional proof that the American people are not as glib as they once were. All their lives they have been warned against dealing with strangers, to avoid as a pestilence those who could cut them in on a sure thing.
Nevertheless, the slickers are still abroad in the land and reap a rich harvest from the gullible and unwary. Some of the oldest confidence games are still being practiced. And while no one has bought the Brooklyn bridge recently, suckers for the old pocketbook trick turn up somewhere in the nation almost every day.
Police are constantly rounding up the gyp artists. In recent years "roof repair" rackets have been worked in many localities by crooks who trick unwary property owners into signing contracts involving hundreds of dollars, and for which these fly-by-night "experts" do little or no work.
If in doubt, call the police, even if you must pay for the telephone call.

OVER THE BARREL
INTERNATIONAL Wheat Council, administrator of the world wheat agreement, is meeting in London to discuss the wheat pact between surplus producing countries and nations that import wheat. The latter have the exporters over a barrel.
The importers guaranteed to take 421,000,000 bushels during the year ending July 31, but have purchased only 50 per cent of that quantity.
Prices which the importers agreed to pay range from a maximum of $2 a bushel to a minimum of $1.55. Canada has cut its asking price to $1.72 with considerable reluctance because of the reduced income for Canadian farmers involved.
United States wheat is down to $1.75 for export and may be cut to the $1.55 minimum to attract buyers. That would entail a loss of nearly $1 a bushel to the U. S. Treasury.
There are few, if any, teeth in the pact. The British are trying to force wheat prices to the lowest possible point, while exacting maximum prices for such empire products as rubber, tin and chocolate.
The plain fact is that the world's wheat surplus is the largest in history. There may be no solution except enforced production cuts.

Scientists say man eventually will eat his way through the mountains of food surpluses and be compelled to exist on seaweed. Farmers will stack the family food supply in the haymow instead of the deep freeze, presumably.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

One of the major causes for irritation in the world is colonialism, which means the possession of a territory and its government by another nation. Dr. Sun Yat-sen invented the term, semi-colonialism, to describe those countries which are nominally independent, such as China was in his day, but which actually are dominated and controlled by other countries. The principal nation to practise semi-colonialism in our era is Soviet Russia.

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, in a speech said:
" . . . We ourselves are the first colony in modern times to have won independence. We have a natural sympathy with those everywhere who would follow our example."

The American Revolution was characteristic of most colonial efforts for independence. It occurred after the parent power had been engaged in a war, the Seven Years War (1756-1763), and the colonies were assisted, less than is generally presumed, by one of the contestants in that war, France. India likewise gained its independence by stages because of Great Britain's preoccupation in two wars, World War I and World War II. Holland lost Indonesia as a result of World War II. On the other hand, France chose to make a fight for Indochina and that country is still not free.

It is generally assumed in this country that colonialism is an unmitigated evil. This cannot be substantiated by the facts. The British have done a magnificent job of maintaining order and protecting the people of all the colonies of the old British Empire. Before the British came to India, it was a battlefield for contending conquerors and an area despotically held by a multitude of rulers. The British could not undo thousands of years of history in the short period from Clive to Churchill.

Since India has gained her freedom, there is not a scintilla of evidence that the people have enjoyed greater benefits, and at the moment it appears that, sooner or later, either Great Britain or the United States will have to step in to rescue India from either Russia or China or both.

Dulles makes the point that the United States voluntarily gave freedom to the Philippines. It is possible to say that the United States imposed freedom on the Philippines. Manuel Quezon, long before he became President of that country, in a conversation in Shanghai, told me that, for the Philippines, it would be preferable to have dominion self-government. This was before World War II and at a time when it looked as though the Philippines could and might be taken over by Japan.

Certainly nothing in the present state of the Philippines would justify the assumption that the people of that country are better off than they were during American rule.

The question arises as to whether the small countries or the weak and backward countries can maintain their independence. It is not so much whether they want to, because it can be taken for granted that every race of man wants to go his own way, but will they be permitted to by the course of history?

Poland would prefer to be independent. Poland is not only a prisoner in the Soviet Universal State, but has practically become a province of the Russian Empire. Is this colonialism, semi-colonialism or what? The same question could be asked about Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania which have become completely absorbed by Russia.

Nurse Lady
ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

SYNOPSIS
Norman Brandt and nurse Cynthia Doyle had first met at the scene of an accident near Washington, D. C. He had tried to "date" her, to pay her court, but Cynthia's romantic interest centers about Dr. Sellers with whom she works at the clinic. It was not until the doctor discovered that he had a rival for Nurse Doyle's esteem, that he began to see her as a woman as well as a nurse.

CHAPTER EIGHT
SINCE she could not let Norman Brandt call for her at the apartment, because of Roz, nor at the clinic, because of Walt, Cynthia had said she would meet him at a little Italian restaurant in the neighborhood.

I hate all this secrecy, she thought, as she changed her clothes in the dressing room at the clinic. But this will put an end to it. She could not get herself rigged up like Roz in her black and sequins, but Cynthia was especially fond of her beige spring suit. She had a pretty eggshell blouse to go with it, and her small, off-the-face green hat was comfortable and becoming. As an added dash, she wore a tiny boutonniere of pink and blue bachelor buttons.

And at least she had her shoes on, she thought, as she looked around for Norman. He was waiting. He was perched on a high stool at the counter chatting chummily with the fat proprietor, Papa Pinelli, as everyone called him. The restaurant did not have much class, but the food was excellent. And Papa Pinelli was related to the Mancinis.

"I was afraid you wouldn't show up," Norman said, getting off his high stool to greet her. His eyes smiled down into hers as though to say, Here we are in on another secret.

Or perhaps she imagined this because of her own guilty conscience. No doubt he had that same way of looking into every woman's eyes—Roz's and Reba Raye's, and goodness knows how many others.

"I told you I'd come," she said, "though I shouldn't have."
"I'm glad you're the kind of girl who keeps her word," he replied gravely. "As for why you shouldn't be here—is there a law against it? Papa Pinelli tells me he has the best spaghetti in the country. And I'm mighty fond of spaghetti."

Papa Pinelli bustled out now to escort them to a choice table. He recognized Cynthia, as almost everyone in the neighborhood knew the "Nurse Lady" by sight. She sometimes ate in his restaurant with Nora when they did not feel like cooking. It was not swanky enough for Roz. She would

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—Senate Democrats will not support the Flannery-Lehman move to discipline Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, largely for reasons of practical politics. Indeed, the leadership is disturbed by the fact that the New York senator, mixed in the "Republican brawl."
It is known that a majority of the opposition condemn McCarthy's manners and methods, as their representation on the Mundt committee demonstrated. But the Democrats, as well as many of their Republican colleagues, are appalled at his continued popularity, on the face of expressed denunciation by so many substantial elements of the citizenry.
CRITICS — In formal resolutions, he has been criticized for spreading hatred and dissension by organizations, publications and spokesmen for the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths. He was forced to supplant J. B. Matthews with Roy M. Cohn as executive director of his investigating group because the former had charged that there were many communist sympathizers among the Protestant clergy.

More importantly, from the standpoint of politics, he has been excommunicated by the more influential unions, both AFL and CIO. Still mindful of their great debt to F. D. R. and Harry S. Truman, they resent McCarthy's characterization of the Roosevelt-Truman regime as "twenty years of treason."
A series of anti-McCarthy proclamations has been issued by members of President Eisenhower's political family—by Ike himself, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., Sherman Adams, National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.
In two elections where McCarthy figured indirectly, the voters lined up against him. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine defeated a McCarthy admirer. In California, Mrs. Mildred Younger won over Jack Tenney, a local anti-Communist chaser, for the Republican nomination for state senator.

STRENGTH—Despite this array of adversaries and adverse reactions, every public and private check suggests that McCarthy is regarded as a "great and patriotic American" by 30 to 35 per cent of the people polled, in rural and urban areas. With so many members of Congress running for reelection in states and districts where a shift of 5 or 10 per cent means defeat or victory, they have no heart for taking on "terrible Joe."
In fact, a McCarthy rebuke at this late hour would make the Senate look foolish. It is more than two years since he refused to answer the Hennings committee's formal and official questions about his personal finances. Yet, the Senate has not invoked any rules against him in that period. Eisenhower's Internal Revenue agents have had 17 months to check on his income

WHAT'S THE GIMMICK?

TELEPHONE company in a Maryland city erected an outside booth as a convenience for motorists. When the service was inaugurated a motorist was stopped and offered a free call. He refused it.

"What's the gimmick?" he asked, suspicious that it was a come-on racket. Here is additional proof that the American people are not as gullible as they once were. All their lives they have been warned against dealing with strangers, to avoid as a pestilence those who could cut them in on a sure thing.

Nevertheless, the slickers are still abroad in the land and reap a rich harvest from the gullible and unwary. Some of the oldest confidence games are still being practiced. And while no one has bought the Brooklyn bridge recently, suckers for the old pocketbook trick turn up somewhere in the nation almost every day.

Police are constantly rounding up the gyp artists. In recent years "roof repair" rackets have been worked in many localities by crooks who trick unwary property owners into signing contracts involving hundreds of dollars, and for which these fly-by-night "experts" do little or no work. If in doubt, call the police, even if you must pay for the telephone call.

OVER THE BARREL

INTERNATIONAL Wheat Council, administrator of the world wheat agreement, is meeting in London to discuss the wheat pact between surplus producing countries and nations that import wheat. The latter have the exporters over a barrel.

The importers guaranteed to take 421,000,000 bushels during the year ending July 31, but have purchased only 50 per cent of that quantity.

Prices which the importers agreed to pay range from a maximum of $2 a bushel to a minimum of $1.55. Canada has cut its asking price to $1.72 with considerable reluctance because of the reduced income for Canadian farmers involved.

United States wheat is down to $1.75 for export and may be cut to the $1.55 minimum to attract buyers. That would entail a loss of nearly $1 a bushel to the U. S. Treasury.

There are few, if any, teeth in the pact. The British are trying to force wheat prices to the lowest possible point, while exacting maximum prices for such empire products as rubber, tin and chocolate.

The plain fact is that the world's wheat surplus is the largest in history. There may be no solution except enforced production cuts.

Scientists say man eventually will eat his way through the mountains of food surpluses and be compelled to exist on seaweed. Farmers will stack the family's food supply in the haymow instead of the deep freeze, presumably.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

One of the major causes for irritation in the world is colonialism, which means the possession of a territory and its government by another nation. Dr. Sun Yat-sen invented the term, semi-colonialism, to describe those countries which are nominally independent, such as China was in his day, but which actually are dominated and controlled by other countries. The principal nation to practise semi-colonialism in our era is Soviet Russia.

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, in a speech said:

"... We ourselves are the first colony in modern times to have won independence. We have a natural sympathy with those everywhere who would follow our example."

The American Revolution was characteristic of most colonial efforts for independence. It occurred after the parent power had been engaged in a war, the Seven Years War (1756-1763), and the colonies were assisted, less than is generally presumed, by one of the contestants in that war, France. India likewise gained its independence by stages because of Great Britain's preoccupation in two wars, World War I and World War II. Holland lost Indonesia as a result of World War II. On the other hand, France chose to make a fight for Indochina and that country is still not free.

It is generally assumed in this country that colonialism is an unmitigated evil. This cannot be substantiated by the facts. The British have done a magnificent job of maintaining order and protecting the people of all the colonies of the old British Empire. Before the British came to India, it was a battlefield for contending conquerors and an area despotically held by a multitude of rulers. The British could not undo thousands of years of history in the short period from Clive to Churchill.

Since India has gained her freedom, there is not a scintilla of evidence that the people have enjoyed greater benefits, and at the moment it appears that, sooner or later, either Great Britain or the United States will have to step in to rescue India from either Russia or China or both.

Dulles makes the point that the United States voluntarily gave freedom to the Philippines. It is possible to say that the United States imposed freedom on the Philippines. Manuel Quezon, long before he became President of that country, in a conversation in Shanghai, told me that, for the Philippines, it would be preferable to have dominion self-government. This was before World War II and at a time when it looked as though the Philippines could and might be taken over by Japan.

Certainly nothing in the present state of the Philippines would justify the assumption that the people of that country are better off than they were during American rule.

The question arises as to whether the small countries or the weak and backward countries can maintain their independence. It is not so much whether they want to, because it can be taken for granted that every race of man wants to go his own way, but will they be permitted to by the course of history?

Poland would prefer to be independent. Poland is not only a prisoner in the Soviet Universal State, but has practically become a province of the Russian Empire. Is this colonialism, semi-colonialism or what? The same question could be asked about Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania which have become completely absorbed by Russia.

Nurse Lady By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

SYNOPSIS Norman Brandt and nurse Cynthia Doyle had first met at the scene of an accident near Washington, D. C. He'd tried to "date" her, to pay her court, but Cynthia's romantic interest centers about Dr. Sellers with whom she works at the clinic. It was not until the doctor discovered that he had a rival for Nurse Doyle's esteem, that he began to see her as a woman as well as a nurse.

CHAPTER EIGHT SINCE she could not let Norman Brandt call for her at the apartment, because of Roz, nor at the clinic, because of Walt, Cynthia had said she would meet him at a little Italian restaurant in the neighborhood.

I hate all this secrecy, she thought, as she changed her clothes in the dressing room at the clinic. But this will put an end to it. She could not get herself rigged up like Roz in her black and sequins, but Cynthia was especially fond of her beige spring suit. She had a pretty eggshell blouse to go with it, and her small, off-the-face green hat was comfortable and becoming. As an added dash, she wore a tiny bow-tie of pink and blue bachelorette buttons.

And at least she had her shoes on, she thought, as she looked around for Norman. He was waiting. He was perched on a high stool at the counter chatting chummily with the fat proprietor, Papa Pinelli, as everyone called him. The restaurant did not have much class, but the food was excellent. And Papa Pinelli was related to the Mancinis.

"I was afraid you wouldn't show up," Norman said, getting off his high stool to greet her. His eyes smiled down into hers as though to say, Here we are in on another secret.

Or perhaps she imagined this because of her own guilty conscience. No doubt he had that same way of looking into every woman's eyes—Roz's and Reba Raye's, and goodness knows how many others.

"I told you I'd come," she said, "though I shouldn't have."

"I'm glad you're the kind of girl who keeps her word," he replied gravely. "As for why you shouldn't be here—again—let me ask you, it's Papa Pinelli tells me he has the best spaghetti in the country. And I'm mighty fond of spaghetti."

Papa Pinelli bustled out now to escort them to a choice table. He recognized Cynthia, as almost everyone in the neighborhood knew the "Nurse Lady" by sight. She sometimes ate in his restaurant with Nora when they did not feel like cooking. It was not swanky enough for Roz. She would have turned up her nose at the red and white checked tablecloths and the clientele. As it was early and a week night, the place was almost deserted. Norman said, if it suited her, he believed a booth would be cozier than a table. "And we want to be cozy," he said, after they were settled in a booth and Papa Pinelli had taken their order. "We want to make up for all the time we've lost. Start at the beginning, Cynthia, and tell me all about yourself."

This was not the conversation she had planned. "There's nothing really to tell," she said. "I come from a small town in Indiana. A large family, three brothers and two sisters—"

"Don't tell me there are more at home like you!" That was an oldie, but she had to smile. She told him one sister was older, married, with three youngsters of her own; the other was still in school, studying to be a teacher. And besides these, there were her mother and dad, a grandmother who made her home with them, and numerous aunts and uncles and cousins, all living within a stone's throw.

"It sounds nice," Norman said approvingly. "It sounds American—and wonderful. Why did you ever leave it to come to Virginia and make other people's kids well? Though I'm glad you did; otherwise, we might never have met."

Why did he have to take everything she said and give it that personal twist? No, this was not the way she had planned things at all. This intimate little booth, with its soft lights—she should have insisted on sitting in the center of the room at a table...

"That's the reason I came tonight," she might as well get to the point. "To tell you that we can't do this again. We can't be friends. So you must stop trying to be."

"In order to stop me," he said, "you'll have to present your case. Which reminds me, why didn't you show up at the police station?"

"Officer Masters came to see me," Cynthia told him.

"Hum, so you made another conquest!" His eyes were teasing now. "And I suppose I don't have to ask why you've avoided me ever since, and why I had to haunt the hospital in the hope of running into you. But you came this evening! So you see, unless the case you present is a very good one, I refuse to accept it. In fact," he added, leaning over the table so that his eyes could look more deeply into hers, "I'm hoping that we shall become much more than friends, Cynthia."

"I suppose you say these same things to every girl you meet, accidentally or otherwise."

"What gave you that idea?" She could have told him, but she had resolved to try to be subtle, not just blurt out, "Because of Roz; I'm sure you must have said these same things to Roz." Since she could not, she fell back on the offensive Walt had used.

"Because you're that kind of man."

He gave a little laugh. "How do you know what kind of man I am?" "I have to go by the evidence." "Give me one exhibit, please." "Well, Exhibit A," she said, since he had asked for it, "would be that you did not tell the truth. You weren't driving that car."

"If you knew that," his smile broadened, "why didn't you tell your pal, Officer Masters?"

"I supposed you had some reason for saying you were at the wheel. And it was too late, then, for me to tell."

And here I thought you did it to save me from a long sentence of bread and water and hard manual labor," he chuckled. He filled her half-emptied glass of red wine; refilled his own. "That would have been hard to take," he added, "when I can be enjoying the delights of Papa Pinelli's cooking. And the pleasure of looking at you. You're the loveliest girl, Cynthia, I've ever looked at, by the way."

"I couldn't be as pretty as Reba Raye," she reminded him. "It was she who really hit little Julius, wasn't it, Norman?"

"I have to stick to my story too," he returned. "But shall we say that it would have been most unfortunate had it been Reba? You see, she's slated for the biggest break she's ever had. And Reba's father worked hard for it. She's just been signed up for a TV show at a fancy figure."

He had publicity at this time might have brought her a broken contract. Headlines in the papers. You know now it is when anyone is a celebrity. "I imagined it was something like that," Cynthia admitted. "You mustn't judge Reba too harshly," he said. "She was almost hysterical. That's why it took me a few minutes to get her to stop the car. I promised her I'd keep her out of it if possible. And she's tried to make up for it since. She insisted that I get special nurses and move Julius into a private room and see that everything possible is done for the kid. Luckily, he finished, with a wry grin, 'Reba can afford it. With her TV contract.'"

news behind the news
WASHINGTON — Senate Democrats will not support the Flannery-Lehman move to discipline Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, largely for reasons of practical politics. Indeed, the leadership is disturbed by the fact that the New York senator mixed in the "Republican brawl."
It is known that a majority of the opposition condemn McCarthy's manners and methods, as their representation on the Mundt committee demonstrated. But the Democrats, as well as many of their Republican colleagues, are appalled at his continued popularity, in the face of expressed denunciation by so many substantial elements of the citizenry.
CRITICS — In formal resolutions, he has been criticized for spreading hatred and dissension by organizations, publications and spokesmen for the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths. He was forced to supplant J. B. Matthews with Roy M. Cohn as executive director of his investi-

4-H Club Holds Cooking Project Demonstrations

Cook, Sew and Chatter 4-H club held its seventh meeting in the basement of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church.

Mrs. William Purdin directed the meeting. Demonstrations on making sandwiches, salads and Summer drinks were given by Linda Sue Easterday, Paula K. Denham, Paula K. Francis and Beverly Metcalf.

Games were supervised by the recreation leaders, Beverly Wolf and Jane Smith.

Twenty-one members were present at a recent meeting held in the home of the leader, Mrs. William Purdin. Dorinda Arledge, president, conducted a business session.

The group reviewed the project books and watched a demonstration of a heavy salad and a light salad, given by the leader.

Recreation was led by Jane Smith at the close of the business and project sessions.

Six mothers were present at a meeting of the club held in Calvary church basement when the group made plans for a family picnic.

The club members discussed plans for a tour to be held at a later meeting. President Dorinda Arledge was in charge of the session.

Five girls gave demonstrations on making sandwiches, salads and Summer drinks.

Bathtub Fun Keeps Children Happy At Home

While some mothers were discussing ways and means of entertaining successfully at home, they traded ideas on how to keep their own small daughters, plus the neighbors' small daughters, busy and happy during a long and sometimes tedious afternoon.

One mother reported she'd found a sure-fire method when modeling clay, crayons, and biscuit dough had all failed to work. She simply put her little girl in at one end of the bathtub, the neighbor's little girl in at the other, added four or five inches of water, tossed in a lot of soapsuds, and let them splash away to their hearts' content.

Sometimes she provided sponges, boats, or other bathtub toys, but usually just the suds were entertaining enough. The idea is particularly popular of a hot summer's day, but it's practical entertainment any day of the year as long as the bathroom temperature is warm and cozy.

This is one of those simple solutions you may not have thought of—and how happy your neighbor will be to have her little darling come home cleaner than she was when she left!

Soap-and-water play is always attractive to children, but it's not always attractive to mothers to have suds sloshed all over the floors and furnishings. So remember the bathtub as a practical "playground"—as soon as the youngsters are old enough to keep their heads above water!

Bid Your Crew to a Barbecue

"HEY, Everybody, grab your picnic gear and let's celebrate July!" Take the crew on a grand "n' glorious barbecue.

No trouble now. Just plot the party so you don't have to lift a finger, once the fun begins. Food is either fixed b. b. (before barbecue) or by all hands at the gathering. Your main job is to stir up a wham-bang barbecue sauce. Buy ground beef or hot dogs for saucing. Take along buns to toast. Heap a wooden bowl with greens, cukes, carrots, and radishes for salad (tossed-type or cut up to nibble out of hand). Fill the jug with iced tea. Pick out a thumping-good watermelon. And make with the chocolate cake mix.

About that barbecue sauce, lasso a can of tomato soup from the shelf and you've got it. Plunk in brown sugar, mustard, vinegar, onion and garlic. Now taste that and cheer.

Yippee Barbecue Burgers
2 pounds ground beef
3 tablespoons shortening (or drippings)
1 small onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
Shape beef into 8 or 10 burgers. Brown in skillet until almost cooked through. Remove burgers from skillet. Add shortening to drippings in skillet to make 3 tablespoons; brown onion and garlic. Stir in remaining ingredients for sauce. Return burgers to skillet; cover; allow to simmer about 10 minutes. Serve burgers with sauce; and on toasted buttered buns if desired. 8 to 10 servings.

Barbecued Franks: Follow directions for Barbecued Burgers but use 1 pound franks instead of ground beef. Simmer franks about 20 minutes in the sauce. Serve with sauce; and if desired, place on buns. Makes 9 or 10 franks with sauce.

SOUP SCOOPS
Get Cool . . . With Chilled Soup: Eat soup to cool yourself! Yes, the trick is to chill soup and serve it icy cold when you want a refreshing meal. Asparagus soup is especially delightful this way. Mix 1 can condensed cream of asparagus soup with 1 can milk. Put this in the refrigerator to chill well before mealtime—about 4 hours will insure thorough chilling. Serve the creamy asparagus combination into cold bowls. Sprinkle top with chopped parsley or watercress. Tasty with egg salad sandwiches or pimiento cheese.

ning to attend a Departmental Encampment of the V.F.W. to be held Thursday through Sunday in Columbus.
Delegates from Circleville post are to include Miss Margaret Justice, president; Mrs. Pauline Russell, first delegate; Mrs. Mildred Justice second delegate; Mrs. Georgia Timmons, first alternate; Mrs. Mary Fullen, second alternate, and Mrs. Tessie Keys.

Home Builder Describes How Task Isn't So Tough

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Gunner Musselman, editor of Circle City, which provides five Ohio daily newspapers with national and world news. Opinions expressed are those of the author.

By GUNNER MUSSELMAN

This article could be entitled "Trials and Tribulations of a House Builder" or it could be titled "I Battled Alone for a GI Loan."

But neither would be factual. The "trials and tribulations" turned out to be pretty much imaginary and there was no "battling alone." The experience actually was no "battle" and the builder was far from "alone."

Actually, the article is a report on how one Circleville family (the author's) built a new house on a Veterans Administration (GI) loan.

WITH THE house-building project complete and the house occupied there are these conclusions:

1. It is utterly false to say that there is so much gobbledygook in the VA that it isn't worth the effort to try and get a GI loan. This builder is convinced that such a statement is strictly bunk and must have been peddled by either (a) guys who never bothered to get the facts, (b) guys who think that since they won the war single-handed the government should hand them a castle on a silver platter, or (c) guys who are merely irreconcilable cynics.

2. You don't have to go outside Pickaway County to find the best materials and best craftsmen in the house-building industry. And you can match prices right here at home. The person who insists he must go to the "big city" to find reliable merchandise and workmen either is plagued with a false pride or doesn't shop around enough.

3. Your list of real friends is far longer than you had suspected. Folks wishing you well, offering a helping hand and extending the free loan of tools, etc., crop up on every side. They are sincere and don't expect even a humble "thank-you" in return.

Here is the case history of the Musselman Mansion:

It started in the fall of 1952 when we got the bug to buy and/or build. You don't need a penny to support this type of bug—it costs nothing to dream.

WE GOT THE bug when William Collins, who laid out Collins Court, decided to sell his last lot, one he long had used for his garden. It was a nice-sized parcel—just large enough for a yard for our Boxer dog and yet not too large for the missus to mow.

Having gotten title to the plot, we were right proud—we owned a chunk of dirt; we were freeholders. The land was weed-laden and barren, but it was ours.

Now to decide what to do about building on our "farm".

First off, we had the basic choice: Should the house we build be of conventional construction or should it be of the prefabricated category? This is fundamentally a personal choice and decision. We were guided in our decision to build conventionally by the old rule of thumb: Half the value of any house rests in the integrity of the builder.

We had stacks of "homes" magazines and plans clipped from newspapers. We thinned them down to three or four, combined them and came up with a floor plan which we thought would (a) fit our pocketbook, (b) fit the neighborhood, (c) fit our family and (d) be saleable just in case.

Then there was the little matter of paying the bill.

WE TURNED to the GI loan program of the VA. First task was to verify our eligibility. Dealing with the Cincinnati regional office of the VA, I submitted my original discharge and my original notice of separation from the Navy. In about a week, the VA returned my "certificate of eligibility."

It is a little piece of paper upon which I and about three million

other World War II veterans have been allowed to catch up with the economy for time spent in uniform.

You can get a GI loan direct from the VA providing you can't round up private bank financing at home. With four banks in Circleville, I considered the odds good on getting a loan locally. First stop was made at the Third National Bank here.

There I stated my case to Judge William Radcliff, president of the bank, and Mac Noggle, the institution's main c.o.g. They listened to my story, heard about my plans and gave me the go-ahead. It took about ten minutes.

One thing learned about modern-day banks: You don't "ask" for a loan; you "sell" one. After all, banks are in business for that purpose. And the day is swiftly passing when bankers must be stuffed shirts, who must be bowed to and who demand that John Q. Public place them on a holier-than-thou pedestal. I found none of this ilk at the Third National, which Judge Radcliff refers to as "the little bank with the big heart."

What will this house cost to build? What will be the tariff on workmanship.

A GREENHORN builder hasn't the least inkling. He must find someone who would know. But who? Well, this greenhorn builder reasoned along this line: Since most of the material will come from a lumberyard, why not toss the ball to those fellows?

It was a good hunch. We went to the Circleville Lumber Co. and huddled with its manager, Tom Gilliland.

Tom looks like a man of 50, is as spry as a youth, but has the wisdom of his true age, 70-plus. He's Irish as Paddy's pig, has a heart as big as a bucket and is never too busy to sit down and answer questions even when he doesn't smell a possible sale.

It didn't take Gilliland long to analyze our situation and to figure out the complete cost of our proposed house. When he had quoted the figure, I asked bluntly:

"Is that the estimate or the price? I can't afford to get stuck with one of those cost-plus deals." Gilliland shot back: "The final total won't go a penny over that." It didn't either.

WHO SHOULD be the carpenter, mason, electrician, excavator, plumber, heating contractor, block-layer, cement man, plasterer, painter, landscaper etc.?

That's quite a list—about a dozen talented craftsmen.

And we found them all in Pickaway County.

Labor prices vary but little, but quality of workmanship requires a little watching. You might save a nickel now and then in letting a job, but what will the job look like when it's done; how will it hold up? Best way to find out is to check work done by the craftsman in question. The proof of the pudding is a sure guide in selecting workmen.

Of course, you can turn the whole works over to a single contractor and let him worry about the details. But in this particular case, I decided that since the only way I could build at all was on a GI loan, I could do an awful lot of worrying on a contractor's fee. A couple of contractors to whom I talked agreed with me and we are still good friends.

And what with Tom Gilliland standing by, I knew I had a wealth of sage advice at my fingertips.

With the groundwork laid, next step was to get the floor plans in order and drawn into blueprinted details. There are architects available for this kind of work. But there are also $5 blueprints in magazines and newspapers which will provide much education if studied thoroughly.

THERE ARE also drawing boards that can be borrowed and there is elbow-grease. I chose the latter course and came up with the requirements stipulated by VA.

I know of one of Pickaway County's finest homes which was built from a sketch on a single sheet of butcher paper. But that wouldn't have met VA requirements, so I had several copies made of my original drawings.

My dealings with the VA were pleasant and memory does not record the vast amount of red tape which rumors had forecast.

There were delays in getting my blueprints and specifications approved. But the delays were not the fault of the VA; they were mine.

In the first place I got in too much of a hurry and neglected to read the VA instructions carefully. VA wagged a courteous finger at me.

Only once did VA take more than 48 hours to answer any of my correspondence. That was the last time I heard from them—last month when VA told the bank that the job was complete and ready for loan. The last message was delayed since it was caught in the logjam of spring projects which flooded the Cincinnati regional office.

SOME RUMORS say that VA's construction demands are too severe, but I found nothing in the "demands" that any sane builder would not put into the job in the first place.

VA requirements are strict, detailed and sometimes difficult to fathom. But they are there, I am convinced, not because some bureaucrat wants to throw his weight around but because some skinkflint corner-cutter has taken virtually criminal advantage of some unfortunate GI in the past.

Our house plans approved by VA and the project given the green light, next step was to line up tradesmen.

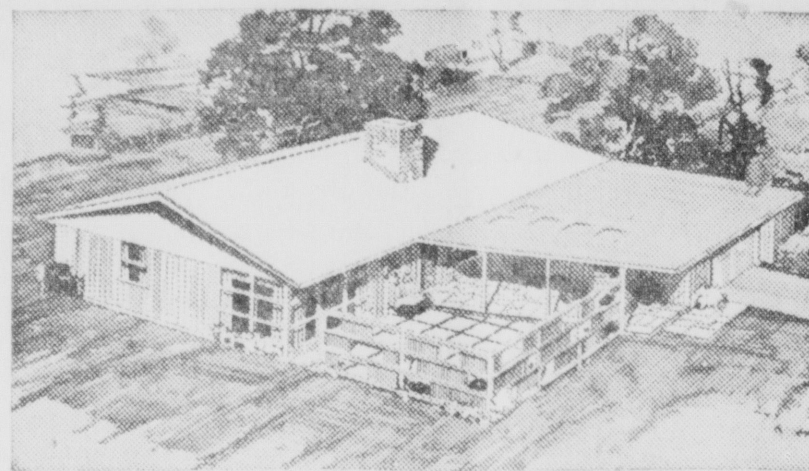

We relied to a large extent on Gilliland's suggestions (he always provides two or more) plus our own observations of jobs in the process of going up.

Key man for the entire job would be the carpenter and virtual supervisor. In this community, as in every other, there are carpenters and there are wood-butchers. Our choice, after receiving various recommendations, checking his work and even watching him work was Oscar Troehrer.

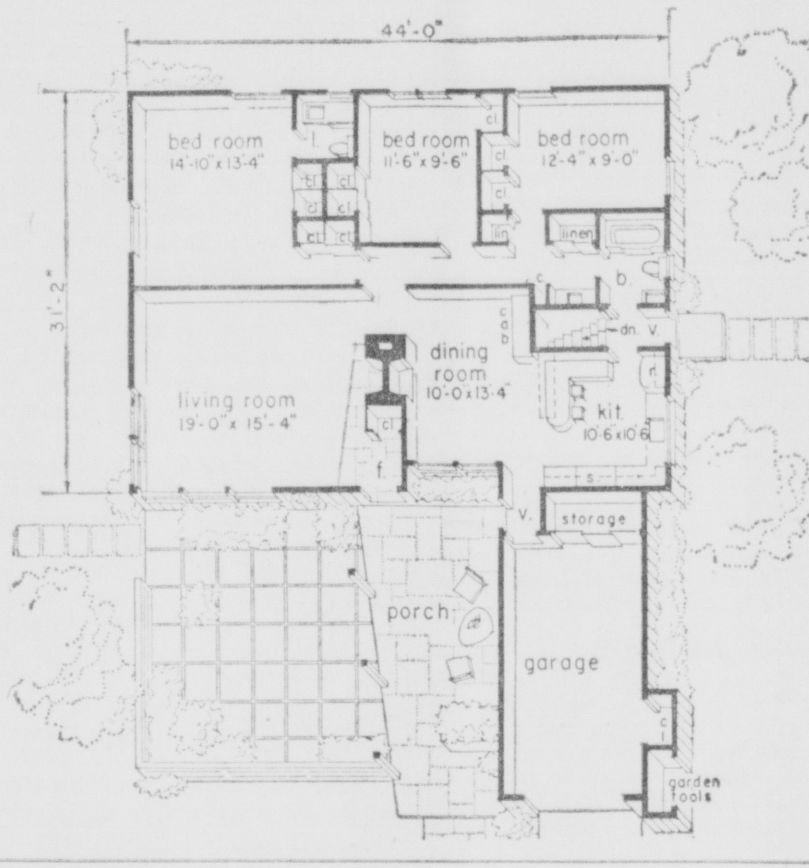

Best recommendation for Troehrer came from one of his chief competitors who declared: "We wish he were on our team; we can't compete with him in speed, quality or price." While we had to wait about nine months for Troehrer to become available on our job site, it was well worth it.

OTHER CRAFTSMEN who assisted in our house-raising included some of the most reliable workmen in the district, including: Joe Christy, plumbing and heating; a young businessman who still

Workshop Is Vital To Every Farmer

A good workshop should be found on every farm, in the opinion of farm engineers. Upkeep of equipment and buildings, they point out, is a normal part of the farm routine. While city dwellers may fall in line with the "do it yourself" trend for pastime purposes, farmers must do a major part of their building and repairs for time-saving and economy reasons.

Building a workshop is a project that will add efficiency to farm operations throughout the year. During rush periods a well equipped workshop often will save precious hours by permitting repairs to be handled on the spot. When bad weather forbids outdoor work, the time otherwise wasted can be spent profitably in workshop projects.

The farm workshop should be weatherproofed to permit use on bad days. Its doors should be big enough so that large pieces of equipment may be brought in for adjustment. Adequate tools, carefully arranged and kept in place, are essential.

A workshop can be built on any farm at modest cost by using the modular system of construction. That is simply a matter of planning dimensions so materials in stock sizes can be used with a minimum of cutting or waste. For example, if one wall is laid out to be 8 feet high and 12 feet long, the entire wall area can be covered with three standard size sheets of asbestos-cement board. That eliminates cutting and waste.

ASBESTOS board, incidentally, is an excellent choice for both the exterior and interior walls of a workshop. It is low in cost, non-combustible and requires no painting. Besides being rotproof and

Home Builder Describes How Task Isn't So Tough

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Gunner Musselman, editor of Galvin Wire Service which provides five Ohio daily newspapers with national and world news. Opinions expressed are those of the author.

By GUNNER MUSSELMAN

This article could be entitled "Trials and Tribulations of a House Builder" or it could be titled "I Battled Alone for a GI Loan."

But neither would be factual. The "trials and tribulations" turned out to be pretty much imaginary and there was no "battling alone." The experience actually was no "battle" and the builder was far from "alone."

Actually, the article is a report on how one Circleville family (the author's) built a new house on a Veterans Administration (GI) loan.

WITH THE house-building project complete and the house occupied there are these conclusions:

1. It is utterly false to say that there is so much gobbledegook in the VA that it isn't worth the effort to try and get a GI loan. This builder is convinced that such a statement is strictly bunk and must have been added by either (a) guys who never bothered to get the facts, (b) guys who think that since they won the war single-handed the government should hand them a castle on a silver platter, or (c) guys who are merely irreconcilable cynics.

2. You don't have to go outside Pickaway County to find the best materials and best craftsmen in the house-building industry. And you can match prices right here at home. The person who insists he must go to the "big city" to find reliable merchandise and workmen either is plagued with a false pride or doesn't shop around enough.

3. Your list of real friends is far longer than you had suspected. Folks wishing you well, offering a helping hand and extending the free loan of tools, etc., crop up on every side. They are sincere and don't expect even a humble "thank-you" in return.

Here is the case history of the Musselman Mansion:

It started in the fall of 1952 when we got the bug to buy and/or build. You don't need a penny to support this type of bug—it costs nothing to dream.

WE GOT THE bug when William Collins, who laid out Collins Court, decided to sell his last lot, one he long had used for his garden. It was a nice-sized parcel—just large enough for a yard for our Boxer dog and yet not too large for the missus to mow.

Having gotten title to the plot, we were right proud—we owned a chunk of dirt; we were freeholders. The land was weed-laden and barren, but it was ours.

Now to decide what to do about building on our "farm".

First off, we had the basic choice: Should the house be built of conventional construction or should it be of the pre-fabricated category? This is fundamentally a personal choice and decision. We were guided in our decision to build conventionally by the old rule of thumb: Half the value of any house rests in the integrity of the builder.

We had stacks of "homes" magazines and plans clipped from newspapers. We thinned them down to three or four, combined them and came up with a floor plan which we thought would (a) fit our pocketbook, (b) fit the neighborhood, (c) fit our family and (d) be saleable just in case.

Then there was the little matter of paying the bill.

WE TURNED to the GI loan program of the VA. First task was to verify our eligibility. Dealing with the Cincinnati regional office of the VA, I submitted my original discharge and my original notice of separation from the Navy. In about a week, the VA returned my "certificate of eligibility."

It is a little piece of paper upon which I and about three million

other World War II veterans have been allowed to catch up with the economy for time spent in uniform.

You can get a GI loan direct from the VA providing you can't round up private bank financing at home. With four banks in Circleville, I considered the odds good on getting a loan locally. First stop was made at the Third National Bank here.

There I stated my case to Judge William Radcliff, president of the bank, and Mac Noggle, the institution's main c.o.g. They listened to my story, heard about my plans and gave me the go-ahead. It took about ten minutes.

One thing learned about modern-day banks: You don't "ask" for a loan; you "sell" one. After all, banks are in business for that purpose. And the day is swiftly passing when bankers must be stuffed shirts, who must be bowed to and who demand that John Q. Public place them on a holier-than-thou pedestal. I found none of this ilk at the Third National, which Judge Radcliff refers to as "the little bank with the big heart."

What will this house cost to build? What will be the tariff on workmanship.

A GREENHORN builder hasn't the least inkling. He must find someone who would know. But who? Well, this greenhorn builder reasoned along this line: Since most of the material will come from a lumberyard, why not toss the ball to those fellows?

It was a good hunch. We went to the Circleville Lumber Co. and dabbled with its manager, Tom Gilliland.

Tom looks like a man of 50, is as spry as a youth, but has the wisdom of his true age, 70-plus. He's Irish as Paddy's pig, has a heart as big as a bucket and is never too busy to sit down and answer questions even when he doesn't smell a possible sale.

WASHINGTON (P)—“No howling success.”

That's a fitting footnote on the big Washington conference between President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, Secretary of State Dulles and Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden.

The four men, meeting when the United States and Britain are further apart than any time since the war, got together last Friday. They talked as a quartet and in pairs. Eisenhower and Churchill yesterday issued a joint statement on their talks. It was as vague as a statement of its kind could be. “They said they ‘would press forward with plans for collective’ defense of Southeast Asia against the Communists. But they didn't say what kind of alliance it would be, who'd be in it, or how it would work or even when.”

They said, in fact, they'd consider two plans for collective defense: in case the French reach agreement with the Communists on a truce in Indochina, another if they don't.

That alone—the uncertainty about a truce—made it impossible for the President and British Prime Minister to be exact on when their plans would be ready or the collective agreement could go into effect.

It might be a year. Yet, time is important. The longer the alliance or any organized opposition is delayed, the more time the Communists have to infiltrate and subvert Indochina's neighbors in Southeast Asia.

Even if there was an alliance—which seems to be all the United States can think of at the moment—it might never be able to go into action if there was no direct aggression—say by the Chinese Communists—across a frontier.

The Communists by now may look upon direct aggression as old-fashioned. Why waste men, material and the chance of defeat by open attack if they can gain the same end by internal revolution?

The British, judging from the joint statement, yielded nothing and added nothing new on the problem of Southeast Asia. Eden, before the Geneva conference on Indochina began April 26, said Britain would be willing to consider an alliance.

He laid down a condition: Britain would not take part in such an alliance before the Geneva conference had a chance to show whether it could achieve a truce in Indochina.

According to the language of the joint statement, Britain is still sticking to that policy since the collective defense mentioned in the statement is contingent upon a final settlement, or failure, in the Geneva talks.

From this it would seem that if anyone yielded in these Washington talks it was the United States, which—judging by Dulles' sudden pleas for an alliance before the Geneva conference—wanted it in a hurry.

The joint statement also talked of another problem which has been

AT A CEREMONY at Sixth Army headquarters in San Francisco, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean posthumously awards the Silver Star medal to First Lt. Stanley E. Tabor. Receiving it is Kitty, Tabor's widow. The citation said the lieutenant, “despite the urging of Dean,” elected to stay behind and assist Dean, who was ill and injured before his capture by the Communists in Korea. bothering the United States. This country looked upon the idea of a single European army—made up of West Germans, French and some of their neighbors—as the strongest bulwark against Russian attack in Europe.

It would mean rearming the Germans. The French, fearing the thought of a rearmament, have delayed for over two years joining this single European army. They may in the end refuse to join.

That would mean the end of the single European army plan, at least the kind the United States thought of.

Eisenhower and Churchill said they agreed Germany should be rearmament and should be a member of the single European army. There was nothing new in that. Both countries had said it for years.

Then the two heads of government added this: “We are determined to achieve this goal” of a rearmament Germany. How are they going to do it if France won't join the single army? Eisenhower and Churchill didn't say. In short, the statement repeated the aims and desires that both countries had mentioned before.

Own Booby Trap Wounds Texan

CREEDE, Colo. (P)—J. T. Hord of Rockport, Tex., was the victim of his own booby trap.

Sheriff Harry Larson said that before leaving his summer cabin last fall, Hord rigged a .22-caliber rifle facing the doorway to guard against prowlers and thieves. Then he posted warning signs.

Upon returning yesterday Hord found the windows of the cabin broken out. Angered, he stormed through the door. The rifle threw a slug into Hord's chest.

He crawled to a nearby highway where passersby found him and drove him to a hospital in Del Norte. His condition was reported serious.

Bee Fumigation Ends In Damage

GLANDALE, Calif. (P)—Fire Marshal A. W. Hunt offered this report today on an explosive bee fumigation conducted by a citizen:

John L. Harris, seeking to eradicate bees in his chimney, climbed to the roof and dropped down a gasoline-soaked rag, unaware that coals still glowed in the fireplace. The resulting blast blew both bees and bricks into the living room. Mrs. Harris, in another room, and Harris, on the roof, escaped injury. Fire department investigators estimated damage at $1,000.

The evicted bees apparently took up residence elsewhere.

Boy, 17, Drowns In Home Bathtub

COVINGTON, Va. (P)—John M. Nester Jr., 17, of South Covington, drowned in a bathtub at his home here yesterday.

Members of the local first aid crew, who tried without success to revive the youth, said he apparently fell into the water-filled tub after becoming ill and was unable to pull himself out. His mother found him dead when she returned from a shopping trip.

Sokolsky's These Days

After World War I, Woodrow Wilson's doctrine of self-determination inspired peoples on all continents to believe that a greater happiness would come to them if all the Empires of Europe were broken into a large number of small countries.

Each minority nationality sought autonomy. Nationalism was stimulated often on no better grounds than language differentiation. The Austro-Hungarian Empire, which held together a number of unruly Danubian and Balkan peoples, was smashed. In every country of Asia and Africa forms of nationalism asserted themselves.

By 1954, these movements had been, for a large number of nations and peoples, suppressed in the development of the Soviet Universal State, which, while recognizing degrees of local autonomy in language, customs and traditions, breaks down self-determination by a homogeneous system of education designed to unify mankind in the Marxist Church. It is a well-designed substitute of controlled One Worldism for colonialism. While the West is abolishing colonialism, the Kremlin is reviving it under another name.

Judge Angered As Ticket Goes To Chicago Mayor

CHICAGO (P)—Somebody tagged a parking ticket on Mayor Martin Kennelly's car, and a judge threatened motorist Jack Keisman with a $100 fine if it turns out he did it. Policeman Edward Maher testified in Traffic Court yesterday a ticket he put on Keisman's auto Jan. 22 later turned up on the windshield of the mayor's limousine. Maher said the mayor's police chauffeur told him he saw a man make the switch on the street outside City Hall. Keisman was charged with failing to pay the parking fine or answer a court summons.

But Keisman, 35, a clothing manufacturer, said he never saw the ticket and did not make the switch.

Judge Joseph J. Butler, who continued the case to July 28, said if Keisman is guilty “I will fine him $100. It shows disrespect for the law.”

Army's Civilian Aides Get Plaudits

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (P)—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a nationwide gathering of his civilian aides yesterday they were “making a major contribution to greater public understanding of Army activities.”

The secretary has civilian advisers in each state. Forty-six were present at the meeting at Ft. Leavenworth.

World Today

By James Marlow
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—"No howling success."

That's a fitting footnote on the big Washington conference between President Eisenhower, Sir Winston Churchill, Secretary of State Dulles and Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden.

The four men, meeting when the United States and Britain are further apart than any time since the war, got together last Friday. They talked as a quartet and in pairs. Eisenhower and Churchill yesterday issued a joint statement on their talks. It was as vague as a statement of its kind could be. "They said they 'would press forward with plans for collective' defense of Southeast Asia against the Communists. But they didn't say what kind of alliance it would be, would be in it, or how it would work or even when."

They said, in fact, they'd consider two plans for collective defense: one in case the French reach agreement with the Communists on a truce in Indochina, another if they don't.

That alone—the uncertainty about a truce—made it impossible for the President and British Prime Minister to be exact on when their plans would be ready or the collective agreement could go into effect.

It might be a year. Yet, time is important. The longer the alliance or any organized opposition is delayed, the more time the Communists have to infiltrate and subvert Indochina's neighbors in Southeast Asia.

Even if there was an alliance—which seems to be all the United States can think of at the moment—it might never be able to go into action if there was no direct aggression—say by the Chinese Communists—across a frontier.

The Communists by now may look upon direct aggression as old-fashioned. Why waste men, material and the chance of defeat by open attack if they can gain the same end by internal revolution?

The British, judging from the joint statement, yielded nothing and added nothing new on the problem of Southeast Asia. Eden, before the Geneva conference on Indochina began April 26, said Britain would be willing to consider an alliance.

He laid down a condition: Britain would not take part in such an alliance before the Geneva conference had a chance to show whether it could achieve a truce in Indochina.

According to the language of the joint statement, Britain is still sticking to that policy since the collective defense mentioned in the statement is contingent upon a firm settlement, or failure, in the Geneva talks.

From this it would seem that if anyone yielded in these Washington talks it was the United States, which—judging by Dulles' sudden pleas for an alliance before the Geneva conference—wanted it in a hurry.

The joint statement also talked of another problem which has been

Korean Relief Slated To End

NEW YORK (AP)—American Relief for Korea, Inc., which was organized in April 1951, has announced a lack of funds will force it to stop operations July 1.

The agency was formed to collect emergency relief supplies for victims of the Korean War. Its shipments included 24,484,130 pounds of clothing or about 65 per cent of all clothing sent to Korea from the free world.

After ARK closes, relief supplies for Korea will continue to be collected by the 13 separate agencies that had joined together to form the over-all relief organization.

Turnpike Tax Hearing Booked

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state board of tax appeals has set July 13 for a hearing to determine whether land used in building the Northern Ohio Turnpike is exempt because it is in the name of the State of Ohio. Several months ago the tax board ruled the land must remain on county tax duplicates until after the board has passed on the question.

The case July 13 involved land in Trumbull County for which an application for tax exemption has been filed with the board.

Ely Culbertson's Wife Gets Divorce

NEWFANE, Vt. (AP)—Mrs. Ely Culbertson has been granted an uncontested divorce from her famed bridge expert husband on grounds of "intolerable severity."

Windham Court yesterday granted the former Dorothy Baehne the care and custody of the Culbertson 20-month-old son Alexander. Support and property arrangements were settled out of court.

Tigers Avenge Earlier Defeat By Lancaster

Circleville High School avenged an earlier setback by Lancaster High School by taking a 12 to 10 decision Monday afternoon at Lewis Park. Lancaster took the first home-and-home baseball tilt 10 to 9 June 21.

The Tigers jumped off to a four-run lead in the bottom of the first. Each team added three in the second. In the top of the third, Lancaster's Fairchild hit a three-run home-run and knocked Tiger starter Callahan out of the box. Lancaster got a lone run in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the seventh.

Tiger shortstop Bobby Wellington made a two-run saving catch over his shoulder in the first with the bases loaded and two outs. Mike Hosler drove in the winning runs in the third for CHS with a single scoring runners from second and third.

Dick Banks, of CHS, continued a hot hitting spree. His two-for-three Monday gives him seven-for-nine. Hosler got two hits as did Ralph Jones. Jim Beck had a triple. So did Jones.

CHS plays Upper Arlington at Lewis Park Saturday in a double header. First game starts at 1:30 p. m.

Line score follows:

Lancaster	033	120	1 — 10 11 3
Circleville	435	000	x — 12 10 5

Matz, Yates (3), Echard (6), Baughman (c), J. Callahan, McConnell (3), Jones (c).

All-Star Game Tickets Readied

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Baseball Co. will put 4,000 tickets to the All-Star game on sale at the Stadium ticket office Thursday. The tickets, $4 each and limited to two to a customer, are for seats in the extreme right and left field stands. All the other tickets have been sold for the game which will

IT WAS a real big day for Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, 79-year-old trainer, as three fillies, trained by him, finished one-two-three at Aqueduct race track, New York, the first time an entry has swept the board at Aqueduct since 1924. Gallair (on the inside) was first, First Flower second and Searching third. (International)

Bolt Collects Tournney Playoff

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Although Tommy Bolt and Earl Stewart didn't know it, Bolt settled the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament playoff in about 10 minutes yesterday.

The battle for the $2,400 top money between these Texans hardly was underway when Bolt sank a birdie, while Stewart, hurt by a slice off the tee and an erratic chip, holed out in 5.

That gave Bolt a two-stroke lead right away, a handicap which Stewart eventually cut into, but was to be played here at 12:30 p. m., Tuesday, July 13.

Bonus Baby Giel Unworried By Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Giel says he isn't worried about home runs. He just wants to learn control.

The former Minnesota All America football star, now a $60,000 bonus pitcher, made his debut with the New York Giants last night in a Red Cross charity game against the Boston Red Sox.

He was getting along just fine until the sixth when a walk and two singles loaded the bases and, with two out, Grady Hatton cleaned them off with a grand slam homer deep into the right field seats.

"The pitch wasn't quick enough," Giel said in the dressing room. "I came right down the gutter. I was trying to get it by him on the outside."

The pleasant, easy-talking Giel, still sporting his collegiate crew cut, spoke earnestly of his problems of jumping from the Big Ten to the big leagues, but he showed no signs of dejection.

"I'm glad this one is over," he admitted. "Now I know what I have to learn—to be quick and still have control."

"I felt quick, especially in the first four innings. I don't know that I've ever felt quicker. But I had to bear down too hard. I went out there with what I already knew. Now I have to work."

Battle For Fifth Place Dead Ahead

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals, jockeying for fifth position, open a two-game series here tonight.

The Cincinnatians hold the fifth spot in the National League race by a scant half-game with 33 victories and 35 defeats. They are one game out of first division and 12 out of first place. St. Louis has won 32 and lost 35.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts selected Joe Nuxhall, a lefthander, for the mound duties. Nuxhall's 3-1 record includes a relief win in April over the Cards.

Eddy Stanky, the Cardinal pilot, said Ralph Beard, a Cincinnati high school product, would make his major league debut before his homefolk.

Special Forms For Managers

All Mosquito, Little and Pony League managers are requested to stop in at The Herald and pick up special report forms from the sports department.

These forms will give the sports department enough information to put the results in The Herald. However, the forms must be filled out completely.

Managers may leave their reports at The Herald office any time, but reports must be in by 8:30 a. m. in order to appear in the paper.

Failure to file reports on any game not being covered directly by the paper will mean the results will not appear in the paper.

Irwin Team Wins Non-League Game

Irwin Insurance, of Ashville, took a non-league baseball game from an independent Columbus team 13 to 9 Sunday. Each team made four miscues.

Both sides scored four runs in the opening inning. In the third, Columbus came back with three runs. But Irwins broke the game wide open in their half of the third with a seven run spurge. Columbus tallied their last run in the seventh while the winners got two more in the eighth.

Irwin hurler Dave Kraft struck out 14 and gave up nine hits. Cook, of Irwins, had four singles in five trips to the plate. Team mates Wilson had three singles and a triple in five trips and Pritchard two-for-three including a home run.

Sunday, Irwins play league leading Harley-Davidson at 2:30 p. m. A win for Ashville means a tie for first. Line score follows:

Columbus	403	000	100 — 9 9 4
Irwins	407	000	02x — 13 15 4

Burns (p), Harris (c). Kraft (p), Easterday (c).

Indianapolis Star Mows 'Em Down

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Herb Score continued to pile up an imposing strikeout record in the American Association as he pitched the league-leading Indianapolis Indians to a 4-1 victory over Louisville yesterday. Score struck out 11 batters in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader, making his total 130 in 106 innings this season.

Louisville won the second game 9-4. In the Association's only other activity, Toledo defeated Kansas City 8-3.

Upset Recorded In Net Tournney

CINCINNATI (AP)—The men go into their second day of action and the women their first at the tri-state tennis tournament which already has registered one upset. John Brownlow, 19, a sophomore at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., ousted Gregg Grant, the international interscholastic champion from Pasadena, Calif., in opening day play yesterday.

Brownlow, a Cleveland resident, lost the first set, 6-4, but with effective ground strokes took the last two, 7-5, 6-3.

Tigers Avenge Earlier Defeat By Lancaster

Circleville High School avenged an earlier setback by Lancaster High School by taking a 12 to 10 decision Monday afternoon at Lewis Park. Lancaster took the first home-and-home baseball tilt 10 to 9 June 21.

The Tigers jumped off to a four-run lead in the bottom of the first. Each team added three in the second. In the top of the third, Lancaster's Fairchild hit a three-run home-run and knocked Tiger starter Callihan out of the box. Lancaster got a lone run in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the seventh.

Tiger shortstop Bobby Wellington made a two-run saving catch over his shoulder in the first with the bases loaded and two outs. Mike Hosler drove in the winning runs in the third for CHS with a single scoring runners from second and third.

Dick Banks, of CHS, continued a hot hitting spree. His two-for-three Monday gives him seven-for-nine. Hosler got two hits as did Ralph Jones. Jim Beck had a triple. So did Jones.

CHS plays Upper Arlington at Lewis Park Saturday in a double header. First game starts at 1:30 p. m.

Line score follows:

Bolt Collects Tourney Playoff

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Although Tommy Bolt and Earl Stewart didn't know it, Bolt settled the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament playoff in about 10 minutes yesterday.

The battle for the $2,400 top money between these Texans hardly was underway when Bolt sank a birdie, while Stewart, hurt by a slice off the tee and an erratic chip, holed out in 5.

That gave Bolt a two-stroke lead right away, a handicap which Stewart eventually cut into, but was be played here at 12:30 p. m., Tuesday, July 13.

Bonus Baby Giel Unworried By Home Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Giel says he isn't worried about home runs. He just wants to learn control.

The former Minnesota All America football star, now a $60,000 bonus pitcher, made his debut with the New York Giants last night in a Red Cross charity game against the Boston Red Sox.

He was getting along just fine until the sixth when a walk and two singles loaded the bases and, with two out, Grady Hatton cleaned them off with a grand slam homer deep into the right field seats.

"The pitch wasn't quick enough," Giel said in the dressing room. "I came right down the gutter. I was trying to get it by him on the outside."

The sporting, easy-talking Giel, still sporting his collegiate crew cut, spoke earnestly of his problems of jumping from the Big Ten to the big leagues, but he showed no signs of dejection.

"I'm glad this one is over," he admitted. "Now I know what I have to learn—to be quick and still have control."

"I felt quick, especially in the first four innings. I don't know that I've ever felt quicker. But I had to have two too hard. I went out there with what I already knew. Now I have to work."

Battle For Fifth Place Dead Ahead

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds and the St. Louis Cardinals, jockeying for fifth position, open a two-game series here tonight.

The Cincinnati hold the fifth spot in the National League race by a scant half-game with 33 victories and 35 defeats. They are one game out of first division and 12 out of first place. St. Louis has won 32 and lost 35.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts selected Joe Nuxhall, a left-hander, for the mound duties. Nuxhall's 3-1 record includes a relief win in April over the Cards.

Eddy Stanky, the Cardinal pilot, said Ralph Beard, a Cincinnati high school product, would make his major league debut before his homefolk.

Special Forms For Managers

All Mosquito, Little and Pony League managers are requested to stop in at The Herald and pick up special report forms from the sports department.

These forms will give the sports department enough information to put the results in The Herald. However, the forms must be filled out completely.

Managers may leave their reports at The Herald office anytime, but reports must be in by 8:30 a. m. in order to appear in the paper.

Failure to file reports on any game not being covered directly by the paper will mean the results will not appear in the paper.

Irwin Team Wins Non-League Game

Irwin Insurance, of Ashville, took a non-league baseball game from an independent Columbus team 13 to 9 Sunday. Each team made four miscues.

Both sides scored four runs in the opening inning. In the third, Columbus came back with three runs. But Irwins broke the game wide open in their half of the third with a seven run spurge. Columbus tallied their last run in the seventh while the winners got two more in the eighth.

Irwin hurler Dave Kraft struck out 14 and gave up nine hits. Cook, of Irwins, had four singles in five trips to the plate. Team mates Wilson had three singles and a triple in five trips and Pritchard two-for-three including a home run.

Sunday, Irwins play league leading Harley Davidson at 2:30 p. m. A win for Ashville means a tie for first. Line score follows:

Recent Drownings Accent Timely Precaution

Safety Council Says Danger Greatest Now

July Usually Means Accident Peak For Smallest Children

At least four drownings in this section of the state during the past several days have placed the grim accent again on the need for caution in swimming, especially when children are involved.

Henri Marc president of the Ohio State Safety Council, pointed out that child and youth accidents can be expected to hit their peak during the Summer months, but he added there doesn't seem to be any clear reason why—in some of the classifications—they climb quickly to a peak at this particular time of the year. Casualties among most of the state's youngsters, however, according to the Safety Council, reach their peak in June.

A total of 86 youthful deaths were listed in Ohio during June of last year, 46 of them in the 5-to-14 age group. However, the peak for children under five years of age is not normally reached until July.

The Safety Council reports that drowning is by far the major threat to youth, with pedestrian and bicycle accidents next in that order—but trailing water fatalities by a wide margin. Nearly a third of the youth drownings in Ohio for the entire year occur in the June-and-early-July period.

SEEKING THE reason for this, the Safety Council in one of its latest bulletins said: "Ohio's waters are slow to warm, and this could be an important factor. It appears that most of youth water casualties occur at swimming spots which are without life guards."

"The No. 1 water safety precaution is to have at least two good adult swimmers in each party. Spur of the moment swimmers almost never provide such protection, and the spots visited for such dips are usually remote, so help can not be obtained quickly.

"The Red Cross, YMCA and YWCA, in many localities will be conducting swimming classes. Each youth should learn how to stay afloat at least. Learning to swim is even better. Small fry should be wearing a life preserver when in boats or wading around in water. The tiny ones can not stay afloat without help. A mishap too often costs them their life.

"June is usually the boom month for adult drownings. Apparently many folks try to start swimming just as they did last Labor Day—which is probably the last time they were in the water. Muscles and wind need tuning up all over again. Take it easy on your first few dips until rhythm and skill reach their peaks. Swim only half as far as you'd like to. . . remember you have to swim back.

"There is reason to think that some of the victims have been swimming to shore after a boating mishap. If you want to return from a boat trip safely, it's usually best to stay with the boat. Many tragic stories end with the sentence 'The boat was found, floating. . .'. Even partly submerged, the boat very often will keep you afloat until rescuers can reach you."

WHILE VARIED in some details, theories on first-aid at the scene of a swimming or boating accident are substantially the same. One first-aid manual advises care of water victims as follows:

"Arrange the person in a suitable position for artificial respiration. He should be placed face downward, on a flat surface, with his head turned slightly to one side and his arms above the head. "If the surface is slanting—for example, a beach—it is an advantage to arrange the patient so that his body slopes downward—the head low and the feet raised. This position aids drainage from the lungs and also the treatment for shock.

"Begin artificial respiration as soon as possible."

The Schafer prone-pressure method of artificial respiration is widely known and favored in water accident cases by many first-aid teachers. The four steps in this method are:

FIRST—The patient is placed on his abdomen, with one arm extended and the other arm bent at the elbow with the face resting on the hand. See that the nose and mouth are exposed and free, and that the tongue is in extended position. See that no foreign objects are in the mouth.

SECOND — The operator kneels, straddling the patient at the thighs, facing forward toward the head of the patient.

Third—The operator places his hands, palms inward, with thumbs up in the horizontal position just under the short ribs, at the small of the patient's back.

Fourth — With the arms held straight the operator swings forward slowly so that his weight is brought to bear on the patient with the pressure of the fingers inward. This motion should take about two seconds. Pressure is then suddenly and completely released.

After about two seconds, repeat the operation.

This procedure is rhythmically repeated for at least 45 minutes or an hour if there is no restoration of breathing. Most first aid teachers caution that artificial respiration should be continued until the patient is revived or death is officially determined.

Dancer Admits Leaving Baby

CLEVELAND — Margaret Catherine Bain, 25-year-old former strip tease dancer, is in county jail today after pleading guilty to abandoning her five-week-old son.

The baby was found dead under a hotel bed last April 7. Miss Bain, who appeared in court here yesterday, had been returned from Dedham, Mass., where she was arrested last week on a bad check charge. She said the baby died when she accidentally slipped and fell, crushing his head against a window sill.

Dynamite Blast Fails Awaken Lad

WASHINGTON, N. C. — Officers said it must have taken two sticks of dynamite planted under the hood of Mrs. Susie Key's automobile to have done all the damage yesterday.

The blast shattered the car's front end and windows in a nearby home, dug a deep hole in the ground and hurled part of the motor and hood 25 feet. Officers said they didn't know who did it.

Neither did Mrs. Key's 17-year-old son Jibe, who said he slept through it all in the back seat.

Recent Drownings Accent Timely Precaution

Safety Council Says Danger Greatest Now

July Usually Means Accident Peak For Smallest Children

At least four drownings in this section of the state during the past several days have placed the grim accident again on the need for caution in swimming, especially when children are involved.

Henri Marc president of the Ohio State Safety Council, pointed out that child and youth accidents can be expected to hit their peak during the summer months, but he added there doesn't seem to be any clear reason why—in some of the classifications—they climb quickly to a peak at this particular time of the year. Casualties among most of the state's youngsters, however, according to the Safety Council, reach their peak in June.

A total of 86 youthful deaths were listed in Ohio during June of last year, 46 of them in the 5-to-14 age group. However, the peak for children under five years of age is not normally reached until July.

The Safety Council reports that drowning is by far the major threat to youth, with pedestrian and bicycle accidents next in that order—but trailing water fatalities by a wide margin. Nearly a third of the youth drownings in Ohio for the entire year occur in the June-and-early-July period.

SEEKING THE reason for this, the Safety Council in one of its latest bulletins said:

"Ohio's waters are slow to warm, and this could be an important factor. It appears that most of youth water casualties occur at swimming spots which are without life guards.

"The No. 1 water safety precaution is to have at least two good adult swimmers in each party. Spur of the moment swimmers almost never provide such protection, and the spots visited for such dips are usually remote, so help can not be obtained quickly.

"The Red Cross, YMCA and YWCA, in many localities will be conducting swimming classes. Each youth should learn how to stay afloat at least. Learning to swim is even better. Small fry should be wearing a life preserver when in boats or wading around in water. The tiny ones can not stay afloat without help. A mishap too often costs them their life.

"June is usually the boom month for adult drownings. Apparently many folks try to start swimming just as they did last Labor Day—which is probably the last time they were in the water. Muscles and wind need tuning up all over again. Take it easy on your first few dips until rhythm and skill reach their peaks. Swim only half as far as you'd like to. Remember you have to swim back.

"There is reason to think that some of the victims have been swimming to shore after a boating mishap. If you want to return from a boat trip safely, it's usually best to stay with the boat. Many tragic stories end with the sentence 'The boat was found, floating...' Even partly submerged, the boat very often will keep you afloat until rescuers can reach you."

WHILE VARIED in some details, theories on first-aid at the scene of a swimming or boating accident are substantially the same. One first-aid manual advises care of water victims as follows:

"Arrange the person in a suitable position for artificial respiration. He should be placed face downward, on a flat surface, with his head turned slightly to one side and his arms above the head. "If the surface is slanting—for example, a beach—it is an advantage to arrange the patient so that his body slopes downward—the head low and the feet raised. This position aids drainage from the lungs and also the treatment for shock.

"Begin artificial respiration as soon as possible."

The Schafer prone-pressure method of artificial respiration is widely known and favored in water accident cases by many first-aid teachers. The four steps in this method are:

First—The patient is placed on his abdomen, with one arm extended and the other arm bent at the elbow with the face resting on the hand. See that the nose and mouth are exposed and free, and that the tongue is in extended position. See that no foreign objects are in the mouth.

SECOND — The operator kneels, straddling the patient at the thighs.

facing forward toward the head of the patient.

Third—The operator places his hands, palms inward, with thumbs up in the horizontal position just under the short ribs, at the small of the patient's back.

Fourth — With the arms held straight the operator swings forward slowly so that his weight is brought to bear on the patient with the pressure of the fingers inward. This motion should take about two seconds. Pressure is then suddenly and completely released.

After about two seconds, repeat the operation.

This procedure is rhythmically repeated for at least 45 minutes or an hour if there is no restoration of breathing. Most first aid teachers caution that artificial respiration should be continued until the patient is revived or death is officially determined.

Slayer Of Wife To Receive Death

LOGAN (AP)—Benjamin Meyer, 25, yesterday was found guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of his wife last Feb. 15.

The jury, which deliberated 4 hours and 45 minutes, offered no mercy recommendation, making the death penalty mandatory. The wife, Velvia, 27, was shot three times as she stood on a sister's porch near Logan. The couple had separated three times previously.

Dancer Admits Leaving Baby

CLEVELAND (AP) — Margaret Catherine Bain, 25-year-old former strip tease dancer, is in county jail today after pleading guilty to abandoning her five-week-old son.

The baby was found dead under a hotel bed last April 7. Miss Bain, who appeared in court here yesterday, had been returned from Dedham, Mass., where she was arrested last week on a bad check charge. She said the baby died when she accidentally slipped and fell, crushing his head against a window sill.

Dynamite Blast Fails Awaken Lad

WASHINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Officers said it must have taken two sticks of dynamite planted under the hood of Mrs. Susie Key's automobile to have done all the damage yesterday.

The blast shattered the car's front end and windows in a nearby home, dug a deep hole in the ground and hurled part of the motor and hood 25 feet. Officers said they didn't know who did it.

Neither did Mrs. Key's 17-year-old son Jibe, who said he slept through it all in the back seat.
